THIS BOOK

IS AFFECTIONATELY DEDICATED

PREFACE.

It is commonly taught that the Syntax of Hebrew is a matter of small importance. Very seldom, indeed, is any special attention given to the subject. The grammars upon which American students have depended furnish exhaustive treatments of Etymology, but contain only a meagre amount of Syntax. It is because men have not studied Hebrew Syntax, because, as a matter of fact, they are ignorant of it, that they have failed to appreciate its value.

It is true that the Hebrew is lacking in the power to present without ambiguity many of the exact and beautiful shades of thought for which expression is found in the Latin and the Greek. It is true that the Hebrew is more dependent upon the context for the precise determination of the meaning than is either of these languages. It is all the more necessary, however, to become acquainted with the constructions which are possible in a given case. It will generally be conceded, that in no respect is the Revision of the Old Testament so weak as in its Syntax. One need only compare critically the translation of the tenses in the first ten or twelve Psalms, to discover the shortcomings of the Revision, and at the same time to understand the difficulty and importance of the subject.

It may be said that, notwithstanding the lack of American grammars in this respect, the existence of such works as those of Driver, Ewald, and Müller renders the publication of a new treatment unnecessary. But it will be remembered that Driver, aside from his Appendices, treats exclusively of the "Tense," the most important of all syntactical subjects, yet a single subject; that Ewald's work, the only philosophical treatment of the subject, can only be appreciated by one who has given much time and attention to Hebrew Syntax; and that Müller's book is brief, obscure, and unsatisfactory. If a new text-book has been needed in any department of linguistic study, it is in that of Hebrew Syntax.

The present work has not been undertaken in order to add anything to the results already achieved in the line of syntactical investigation, but rather to classify and arrange these results in such a way as to bring them within the reach of that large class of Hebrew students who need and desire a knowledge of them but have little time in which to obtain it. No claim, therefore, is made for the originality of the material presented. In a work of so elementary a character, intended only to serve as an introduction to a more exhaustive study of the language, the presentation of any but the most common principles would have been out of place. It has been the aim of the author (1) to present those points which the ordinary student would find of the greatest practical value; (2) to present them in as definite and clear a manner as possible; and (3) to select such examples as would most strikingly illustrate the points made. In carrying out this plan a free use has been made of all former treatments of Syntax. To those named above the writer is under deepest obligation; much of value has also been found in Nordheimer and Gesenius. In most cases where material peculiar to a particular writer is used, special credit has been given. It has been impossible, however, to decide in every case to whom the credit belonged. For all material, not especially credited, a general acknowledgment is hereby made. It should be added, that in the selection of examples for illustration, and of the texts cited under "References for Study," preference has been given to those passages which have always been used by grammarians. It has been an interesting fact to note in how many cases the same texts have been employed by several writers.

So far as concerns the plan of presentation, some improvement, it is believed, has been made upon former methods. The facts are first given; the phrase or sentence is quoted and translated, and in order that the student may determine for himself its full force from the context, the book, chapter, and verse containing it are cited. In the treatment of "Verbal Government and Apposition," "The Sentence," and "Kinds of Sentences," the examples have been given in the unpointed text, in order that the pupil might be compelled to give them more careful study. The work of pronouncing the texts thus printed combines with the study of Syntax also a drill in Etymology.

Following the facts, and based upon them, are the principles. By means of a carefully arranged tabulation the various statements of principles correspond exactly to the facts cited, and no inconvenience will be found in passing from one to the other.

Under "Remarks," additional details, interesting comparisons, and important exceptions are given. The arrangement of this material is intended to make it easily accessible.

The most important, and likewise the most practical, feature of the work is included under "References for Study." Of what permanent value is the memorizing of grammar? Having studied the facts and from them deduced the principles regulating these facts, the next step is application. To aid in this, the crowning part of one's work, a large number of texts, containing illustrations of the various points included under a particular subject are given; these texts are arranged in the order of their occurrence in the Hebrew Bible, and in the case of each text that particular subdivision of the main section to which it belongs is indicated. This arrangement not only makes it possible to read a large number of texts in a comparatively short time, but also breaks up the monotony which ensues upon the examination of several texts covering exactly the same point.

The study of Syntax by this plan combines (1) the exegetical study of the illustrations cited, (2) the mastery of the principles taught, (3) the translation and interpretation, in connection with the context, of a number of texts, and (4) in certain portions also the pronunciation of the unpointed text. The student may be required to translate beforehand only the texts cited from prophetical and poetical portions, these being the most difficult; the texts taken from the historical portions may with great advantage be read at sight.

For valuable assistance in reading proof-sheets, and in verifying references, as well as for the typographical neatness and accuracy of the book as a whole, the author is indebted to the Rev. John W. Payne, of New Haven, Conn., who for some years has been closely associated in the work of "The Old Testament Student" and "Hebraica." The Indices, which will be found especially full and helpful, have been prepared by the Rev. A. M. Wilson, now carrying on Semitic studies in Yale University. From Dr. C. R. Brown, of Newton Centre, Mass., and from Mr. Charles H. Wissner, of Fredericksburg, Va., the author has received valuable aid which he desires hereby to acknowledge.

The author would express the hope that this work may meet the approval of the many teachers who are now using his other Hebrew textbooks, and that in their hands it may prove efficient in aiding to a better knowledge of the Old Testament.

SYNTAX

I. The Noun.

1. THE NOUN, USED COLLECTIVELY.

- 1. בַּקָר oxen; צאן flock; עם people; און nation.
- 2. Yy a tree, trees; win a man, men; a man, a beast, beasts.
- 3. ארחה caravan; ארח traveler; ארחה band of exiles; ארחה an exile.
- 4. אָניה fleet; אניה ship; 12 אָני hair; 13 מער מער מ hair. 14

Collective nouns, that is, nouns which are singular in form, but plural in sense, may be classified as follows:—a

- 1. Those which always express a collective idea, the corresponding individual idea being a different word.
- 2. Those which are used sometimes in an individual, sometimes in a collective sense.^{b c}
- 3. Those whose feminine form is collective,^d while, often, the corresponding masculine form is individual.
- 4. Those whose masculine form is collective, while the corresponding feminine is, generally, individual.

REMARKS.

- (a) The very frequent occurrence of collective expressions in Hebrew is in accord with the extreme simplicity of the language.
- (b) Here are included the numerous cases in which words, for the most part or even always used of individuals in prose, have a collective sense in poetry; there are, indeed, few nouns which may not be thus used.
 - (c) Adjectives, used as substantives, have frequently a collective sense.
 - (d) Compare with this use of the feminine, its employment in abstract nouns.

- 3. a. טוֹבֶר that which is good; טוֹבָה; same; בָה אָרַע; אָרַע בָּה אָרַע.
 - b. בֶּל-תַקרת אֹתָם hard things.6 בָּל-תַקרת אֹתָם hard things.6
- 1. Under masculine nouns are included the names of male beings, and, with the exception of those referred to below under 2. a and c, all nouns without a distinctively feminine ending. It is to be noted that
- a. In masculines which have plurals in [7] (and likewise, in feminines which have plurals in [7]), this termination does not affect the gender.
- b. In some instances, a masculine form occurs where the sense, and rarely also the construction, demands a feminine; and this, sometimes, when a feminine form is in existence.
- c. In the case of pronouns and pronominal suffixes the masculine, instead of the feminine, often occurs as being the primary form, or as being superior to the feminine and including it.

- (a) There are exceptions to this; cf. נשים (Gen. 7:13); משכנות (Ps. 84:2).
- (b) The feminine rarely so occurs for the masculine; both irregularities may be attributed, in many cases, to colloquial inaccuracy, or to carelessness on the part of the writer.
 - 2. Under feminine nouns are included three classes:
 - a. Nouns which refer to female beings; of these
 - (1) some are distinguished from corresponding masculines by having an entirely distinct form;
 - (2) some are so distinguished by the addition of a feminine termination;
 - (3) some (called epicene) are so distinguished only by the construction, both masculine and feminine forms being the same.
- b. Nouns which do not refer to female beings, yet have a feminine termination; here belong
 - (1) nouns designating things without life;b
 - (2) nouns indicating abstract ideas^c or official designations;^d
 - (3) nouns used collectively (§ 1. 3), or individually (§ 1. 4).
- c. Nouns which neither imply distinction of sex, nor have a feminine termination, but are always construed as feminine; here belong
 - (1) names of countries, cities, towns; fgh
 - (2) common nouns designating countries, localities, limited space, points of compass, etc.;

⁵ Gen. 42:29.

²¹ Sam. 24:18.

⁴ Gen. 24:14.

⁶ Gen. 42:7, 30.

- (3) names of members of the body, especially those which are double:
- (4) names of instruments, utensils, powers of nature.
- 3. There being in Hebrew no separate designation of the neuter, there is used in place of it,
 - a. When the word is singular, either a masculine or feminine form.
- b. When the word is plural, generally a feminine form (except in poetry).

- (a) Certain species of animals are treated as masculine, because regarded as strong; others as feminine, because regarded as weak; cf. בֹל dog, אוֹאָב dog, אוֹאָב dog, יונה dove, אוֹל חלירה dove, הונה
- (b) These are really neuter, the signification passing, in many cases, from something living, to that which is without life.
 - (c) So adjectives, when used as neuter substantives, assume the feminine form.
 - (d) Compare our abstract terms "Lordship," "Majesty," "Excellency," etc.
- (e) Collectives without a feminine ending are often treated as feminines; cf. Ex. 8:2, 13, 14; 16:13; 2 Sam. 24:9.
- (f) These are treated as "mothers" or "nurses" of the inhabitants; cf. בני ציון Ps. 149:2, also the word metropolis.
 - (g) When these words refer to the inhabitants, they are construed as masculine.
- (h) It is common, in poetry, to personify nations, countries and cities, as female beings; cf. Isa. 47:1; 50:1; Lam. 1:1.
- (i) Some of these also appear, at times, as masculine; always masculine are אָר nose, און forehead, צואר neck, אין neck, שואר מואר אין heel, זונג tail.
- (j) The exceptions to the principles here given are very numerous, great variation existing in the usage of the language.

- (a) This repetition indicates in some cases entirety; in others, distribution; in still others, multitude, or diversity.
- (b) It is important to note the close connection, (1) between the abstract and the collective, both being frequently expressed by the feminine; and (2) between the abstract and the plural, the latter expressing in its totality that quality which is common to all the units of which it is composed.
- (c) The plural form of abstracts often expresses "a high degree of a given quality or repeated exhibitions and embodiments of it."
- (d) The use of this plural (called the plural of majesty) is limited to a few words and in construction these words are generally treated as singular.
 - (e) Compare the plurals in the mouth of God, e.g. Gen. 1:26; 11:7; Isa. 6:8.

4. DETERMINATION OF NOUNS.

- 1. a. שַרה ברון וורה אפערים Sarah; מצרים abyss.
 - b. בויום הוה או אובן my son; but בני my son; but היום הוה בויום הוה אוביי.
- 2. a. בֵּית אֵל the house of God; בַּנִי the wife of Abram; בַּנִי the sons of Israel.
 - b. אָנְי עָבִי the affliction of my people; בְראֹשֵׁי שִׁבְטִיבֶם the heads of your tribes.
 - c. אַנְישֵי הַמִּלְחָכָה the name of the place; אַנְישֵי הַמִּלְחָכָה the men of
- 1. Certain nouns are in their very nature definite, and require no sign to indicate their definiteness; these are
- a. Proper names which were not originally appellatives, and words in which the appellative force, originally existing, has almost or entirely been lost.^a
- b. All pronouns (except the Demonstrative when attributive), and pronominal suffixes. b c d
- 2. Nouns may become definite (or determinate) by position or construction, e as in the case of
 - a. Nouns in the construct state before a proper noun.
 - b. Nouns in the construct state before a noun with a suffix.
 - c. Nouns in the construct state before a noun with the article:

1 Ex. 3:7.

2 Deut. 1:15.

3 Gen. 28:19.

4 Deut. 2:14.

- (a) In many cases the usage varies; e. g. גלעד (Num. 32:1), הגלעד (Gen. 31:21 ff.).
- (b) A noun with a suffix is definite and does not receive the article; exceptions are seen in Lev. 27:23; Josh. 7:21; 8:33; 2 Kgs. 15:16; Mic. 2:12.
- (c) The Infinitive, being essentially a verbal form, never receives the article; דינות knowledge, really a substantive is an exception (as in Gen. 2:9, 17).
- (d) The following words, archaic and poetic, never receive the article: (1) אֱלֹהַן (2) קוֹלָהָ prince, (3) יַבְל field, (4) שַׁהַי the Almighty, (5) שׁהַל underworld, (6) תַּבֶל world, (7) מוֹלָהָ abyss, (8) תּנִייָה help.
- (e) Every noun in a chain of several constructs is definite, provided the last noun in the chain is for any reason (§ 4.1.a.b) definite.
- 3. a. הַלְּעָם to-day; הַלְּיִלְה this night; הַפַּעָם this time.
 - b. הְרָכְיִעְ the expanse; הְתִּבְרָה the ark; הְאָשָׁה the woman; "הְאִישׁ אֲשֶׁר לֹא הְלָךְ וֹגוֹי the man who hath not walked, etc. אָת־הָמְאַבֶּלֶת אָת־הָמְאַבֶּלֶת the fire and the knife (required for the sacrifice).
 - c. אָת־הְרֶכֵּב ' the horses and the chariots (of the enemy). אָת־הְרֶכִּב ¹⁰ and she took the veil (usually worn by women).
 - d. אַכַל הַחֲבֶר the Canaanite; אַכַל הַחֲבֶר the sword devours; אַבֶּל הַחֲבֶר זוּהְבְּנְעַנִי like oxen; אַבְּלְר הַתְּבֶר הַּבְּבְרִים 13 like oxen; בְּבְּלְר מּל as bees do; בּבְּלְר הַּלְּבָר הַיִּבְיּלְר בּוֹיִים 15 slime....for mortar; בְּבְּלְר gold; בּבַּבְנְוִרִים 15 with blindness; בְּבְּנְוִרִים 18 truth and peace.
 - e. בְּיִתְבְיִם the house; בְּיְבְיִם the ark; בְּיִבְיִם 1º the God.

 בּוְבָעֵל O heaven! בְּיַבְיִם O Baal! בְּיִבְיִם O Spirit!

 בּיִבְעָל the heaven; בְּיִבְיִם 2º the sun; בְּיִבְיִם 2º the earth;

 בּיבְיִבְיִם 2º Lebanon (= the white); בּיַבְיִבְיִבְ Jordan (= the descender).
 - f. בְּמְחִים that which encompasses; בּקְבְּמְחִים they who trust. הַבְּמְחִים (she) that hath come; (אַ) הַבְּמָּה they who wait.

- 3. Nouns, not determinate in themselves or by position, may be made determinate by prefixing the article. The article, as thus employed, may be classified and named as follows:—
- a. The demonstrative, which was the original use, but is now found only in a few stock expressions.
- b. The objective, including those cases in which the article occurs with an object or person,
 - (1) which has just been described in the narrative; or
 - (2) which is described by words (particularly, a relative clause) which immediately follow; or
 - (3) which is defined more or less closely by the circumstances involved in the particular case.
- c. The subjective, used with nouns which, though in no way described, are definite in the writer's mind and, consequently, supposed to be so in the mind of the reader.^a
- d. The generic, used with words which describe a class of objects, or several objects of a class; here may be noted,
 - (1) the more general use of the generic article "with a common appellative, which is used collectively to denote all, or an indefinite number of, the individuals belonging to it;"
 - (2) its special use in comparisons, when the object compared is taken as a class and not as an individual;
 - (3) its special use, also with nouns of material and class-nouns, which are generally known and employed in a general sense;
 - (4) its special use with abstract nouns, employed in their widest significance.
 - e. The distinctive, used to convey the idea of pre-eminence, as when
 - (1) a particular object, of a certain class, is made to have a preeminence over all other objects in that class; or
 - (2) a noun in the vocative is, by its use, made more pointed; or
 - (3) a particular object or individual is emphasized as being the only one in a class; or
 - (4) a proper name, originally an appellative, continues to retain the article which it first received because it was regarded (see (1) above) as the chief member of its class (cf. § 4. 1. a).c
- f. The relative, which, when prefixed to the participle (and, rarely, to a finite form), has the general force of a relative pronoun.

(a) In these cases the idea may often be well expressed by the employment of an unemphatic possessive pronoun.

- (b) With this may be compared cases like הפלים (Gen. 14:13), הארי (I Sam. 17:34), כמקנה בכסף ובזהב (Gen. 13:2), in which the individual, though really indeterminate, is to be represented as being made definite by the context.
 - (c) In the case of many such nouns the usage varies.

- 1. An idea, expressed by means of two nouns in the construct relation, is made definite by prefixing the article to the second noun. Worthy of notice, however, is
 - a. (1) The use of the article after בֹל, when this word means all or whole.
 - (2) The absence of the article after 55, when it means any or every.
 - b. The use of the article with the second part of a compound word.
- 2. An adjective or demonstrative pronoun, connected attributively with a definite noun, must be marked as definite by having the article prefixed.^d
- 3. Indefiniteness is expressed by the numeral אָרָהָ, rarely, however, and chiefly in later writers.
- 4. The article may be omitted in poetry, when in prose it would be required; this omission is explained by the brevity, vividness and emphasis characteristic of poetic style.

REMARKS.

- (a) When the first of two nouns expressing one idea is to be marked as indefinite, a construction with the preposition $\frac{1}{2}$ is employed (§ 9. 5).
- (b) On the occurrence of the article with the first of two nouns in the construct relation, see § 9. 2.
 - (c) Compare the similar usage of $\pi\acute{a}\varsigma$ all or every.
- (d) There are not a few exceptions to this, the article being sometimes omitted from the noun, sometimes from the attributive.
- (e) This numeral is sometimes found in the construct relation with the noun which it limits (cf. Job 2:10); its use with things is more rare than with persons

6. APPOSITION OF NOUNS.

- 1. a. הַבְּקֶר הַנְּחְשֶׁת the oxen the brass = the brazen oxen; הַבַּבוּל בּיָם the deluge (of) water. [offerings.
 - b. אֲכֶרִים אֲכֶרִים אֲכָרִים אֲכָרִים אֲכָרִים אָלָמִים peace-
 - c. הַנְתָרץ כְנַען fthe land (of) Canaan; הַנְהָר פַּרָת 6 the river Euphrates
 - d. אַשְׁה אַלְכְנָה a woman, a widow; רְשֵׁא עָשֶׂב s greenness, herb.
 - e. יְמִים מִסְכַּר ays, a number; שׁנָתִים יָמִים מִסְכַּר two years, time.
- 2. יְּמְלִשְׁר ְיָבִים three seahs, meal; יְבִים a triad, days. אַלְשָׁר יְבִים ¹¹ seven years; אַנִים יְבִים an ephah, barley.
- 3. a. בְּבְּהֶר נְבֹהָה in high degree, high degree; בְּהָה נְבֹהָה proudly, proudly. [generation.

 - d. בְּבְרוֹל נְחֵר פַּבְרוֹל the great river, the river Euphrates.

Apposition, because of a scarcity of adjectives, and a desire for brevity, is of much more frequent occurrence, and of far wider range in Hebrew, than in languages generally. The various kinds of apposition may be grouped as follows:—

- 1. Cases in which the first of two nouns contains the principal idea, the second being added for fuller explanation.^{ab} Here belong the instances in which
- a. The first noun denotes a thing, the second, the material of which that thing is composed.
 - b. The first noun denotes a thing, the second, a quality of it.
 - c. The first noun denotes a person or thing, the second, its name.c
- d. The first noun denotes a genus, the second, a species; or the second gives a more precise idea than the first.
- e. The first noun denotes a thing, the second, the number, weight, or measure of it. a c

- (a) Where the first noun is definite, and the second indefinite, the latter may be regarded as an accusative of limitation (cf. § 40. 2); cf. 1 Chron. 28:18; Ps. 71:7; Hab. 3:8; Lev. 26:42; Jer. 33:2.
- (h) The appositional relation is, at times, so loose that one or more words may stand between the nouns thus connected.
- (c) Sometimes the "name" is the first noun (Isa. 37:2); if the "name" is the second noun and a preposition stands before the first, the preposition must be repeated before the second (Gen. 24:4; cf. Gen. 22:20).
- (d) For all these cases, there are parallel cases in which, by the introduction of a copula, a complete sentence is formed; cf. Gen. 1:2; 11:1; 14:10; 47:9; Ex. 9:31; Deut. 33:6; 2 Sam. 17:3; Isa. 5:12; 19:11; Jer. 24:2; Ezek. 45:11; Ps. 23:5; 45:9; 110:3.
- (e) While nouns like 'Dall, w' there is, and 'there is not generally stand in the construct relation with what follows, they sometimes stand in apposition with a following, and rarely with a preceding, noun.
- 2. Cases in which the second word conveys the principal idea, the first marking the measure, weight, or number of it.^ab
- 3. Cases in which the first word is simply repeated. [Here belong those instances in which the second word is a pronoun repeating a preceding noun, or a noun repeating a preceding pronoun (whether expressed, or implied in a verbal form) (see § 11.1.a).] The appositional repetition serves
 - a. To express emphasis, intensity.
 - b. To express distribution, entirety.
 - c. To express multitude.
- d. To afford an opportunity for the addition of a new idea without rendering the construction faulty.

REMARKS.

- (a) In the great majority of cases under this head, the construct relation may be employed (§ 8. 2).
- (b) It is probable that the second noun, in these cases, is an accusative of limitation (§ 40.5), rather than in apposition.
- (c) The two constructions, apposition and annexion (i. e., the construct relation), are closely related. In the expression of many ideas the one or the other may be used according to choice. Apposition was the earlier construction, and out of it grew annexion.

For the sake of emphasis, and for the avoidance of unwieldy sentences, a noun or pronoun is frequently placed at the beginning of the sentence with no grammatical relation to the other words of the sentence, but represented in the body of the sentence by a pronominal suffix. This noun or pronoun is said to be a Nominative Absolute. The various cases may be classified as follows:—

- 1. Where this nominative absolute is, logically, the object of the sentence.
 - 2. Where it is, logically, the subject of the sentence.
- 3. Where it is, logically, the object of a preposition occurring farther along in the sentence.
- 4. Where it is a pronoun, and is, logically, the subject or object of the sentence, or a genitive after a noun.
 - 5. Where it is preceded by TN, the sign of the object.
- 6. Where, standing as the logical subject, it is resumed by the pronoun 37, which then, though really the grammatical subject of the following predicate, is practically equivalent to a copula.
- 7. A similar usage to that just given, except that the pronoun follows, instead of preceding, the predicate.

That relation between two nouns which is indicated in Latin or Greek by placing the second noun in the genitive, is expressed in Hebrew by pronouncing the two words as one.^a As a result of this, the tone passes to the second word, and the first word is, if possible, shortened. This construction may for convenience be called annexion.^b The varieties of annexion may be classified as follows:—

- 1. Cases in which the two nouns, thus joined, contain distinct ideas of equal value; this is seen
- a. When the second noun designates a person or thing which is the subject or possessor of that which is indicated by the preceding noun.
- b. When the second noun designates the object of an action or feeling expressed by the preceding noun.

REMARKS.

(a) The remnants of original case-endings are quite numerous (El. § 121. 1-3), but these remnants (except in the case of the accusative $\overline{n}_{\overline{\gamma}}$) no longer have any signification.

- (b) A noun with a pronominal suffix is to be regarded, syntactically, as in annexion with that suffix.
- (c) Because of their inflexibility, proper names are seldom found in annexion with a following noun. In cases like אור כשרים (city) of the Chaldees (Gen. 11:28), יהוה (Jehovah (God) of hosts, there is an ellipsis to be supplied (cf. 2 Sam. 5:10).
- 2. Cases in which the second of two nouns, thus joined, is the more important, the first merely indicating its number, size, nature, etc.; this is seen,
- a. In the usage of numerals 2-10, which may stand in the construct state before the substantive which they number.^a
- b. In the usage of certain nouns, e. g., לל totality, ב'ל abundance, sufficiency, which have almost come to have the force of adjectives.b
- c. In the usage of certain commonly occurring nouns as "purely mental concepts," e. g., עַבָּים, בְּנִים and בַּנִים self (the first used of animate objects, the second of persons, the third of inanimate objects); cf. also קוֹל $voice\ of=Hark/cde$
- d. In the usage of words designating the existence or non-existence of a nominal idea; e. g., שיי there exists, אין and בּלְתוֹי non-existence (and in poetry, אָל , לא and בּלְתוֹי) = without, in-, un-, -less; ז solitariness.
- e. In that usage which permits a noun expressing in a general way place, time, manner to stand in annexion with a following relative clause (in which, however, the relative may be omitted).

- (a) For other constructions which the numeral may have, see $ 15. 1. b.
- (b) In reference to 75 the following points may be noted: (1) It regularly precedes in the construct the noun it modifies (Isa. 2:2), but (2) sometimes follows with the idea of the modified noun repeated in the form of a pronominal suffix (2 Sam. 2:9); and (3) rarely occurs with the article after a preceding noun in the construct state (Isa. 29:11).
 - (c) For examples of this use of 717, see Cant. 2:8; 5:2; Ps. 29:3-9 (?).

- (f) The use of k^{i} and k^{i} and in poetry to form a noun with an exactly opposite meaning to that conveyed by the noun itself, is not uncommon (cf. Deut. 32:5, 17, 21; Amos 6:13).
 - (g) See, more in detail, § 13. 2.
- 3. Cases in which the first of two words, thus joined, is the more important, the second merely indicating its character, number, size, or contents; this is seen,
- a. When the second word is an adjective. This use is late, and occurs chiefly in the case of a few common adjectives like בָע, טוב, בְּרָל, בָּרָל, בָּרָל, בָּרָל, בִּרָל, בִּרְל, בְּרָל, בְּרָל, בִּרְל, בְּרָל, בּרְל, ב

- b. When the second word is an attributive word, whether noun, adverb or prepositional phrase.
 - c. When the second word, a proper noun, is the name of the first
- d. When the second word is used "by circumlocution to describe a property of the first." This usage is very common on account of the searcity of adjectives.
- e. When the second word, a neuter or abstract noun, is joined to a preceding general noun like שָל, אָיָשׁ, בְּעַל, בְּעַל, , לבו, denoting possessor, origin, derivation.
- f. When the second word designates the whole of which the first noun is a part; f or when the second word is a literal term, the first being figurative.
 - 4. Peculiar and rare is the occurrence of a construct,
 - a. Before the conjunction \ and.
 - b. With a noun which, in sense, is in apposition with it.
 - c. Before the interrogative pronoun.e

- (a) The adjective in this case is really treated like a neuter noun. Compare יֵרְ יֵיִי the right hand, in which the word יָרְיִי, originally an adjective, has become a substantive.
 - (b) Here, of course, the appositional construction is much more common.
 - (c) Compare the peculiar cases of this construction seen in Isa. 5:11; Eccles. 12:11.
- (d) For cases in which three or more nouns are joined together by annexion, see Gen. 40:3; 47:9; Josh. 3:15; Judg. 9:1; Isa. 10:12.
- (e) The form אָחָרְ (e. g., in 2 Sam. 17:22) is sometimes used as an absolute and not as a construct.
- (f) On the use of the preposition \dot{n} from to express the partitive idea, see the lexicon.

- 1. Participles and adjectives are frequently joined by annexion with a following substantive. This is a closer construction than a following object-accusative or accusative of specification would be. Here may be noted,
- a. The usage in the case of active participles, in which the noun expresses the object of the action, or, as sometimes in poetry, the sphere in which the action is exerted.
- b. The usage in case of passive participles, in which the noun expresses, sometimes the author of the action, sometimes the secondary agent or instrument.
- c. The usage in the case of adjectives (denoting a property or quality) in which the noun has the force of an accusative of limitation or specification.

- (a) Cases of the construct before TN occur, e.g., Jer. 33:22.
- (b) The accusative rather than a genitive is used (1) after a participle or adjective when it (the participle) has the article, and (2) when a word is for any reason inserted between the participle and the word which would, otherwise, be in the genitive; cf. Isa. 40:20; Job 15:10; 32:6.
- 2. Words in annexion form one complex idea, and therefore cannot be separated by intervening words. Here are to be noted certain points:—
- a. The article and He locative everywhere form exceptions to the general law just given; but aside from these only a few anomalous cases occur of the interposition of words. a
- b. Prepositions, particularly the shorter ones and especially in poetry, quite frequently occur prefixed to the second of two nouns in annexion, thus defining more exactly the relationship existing between the two nouns.^b
- c. As one result of this inseparability, two or more nouns joined by "and" cannot stand in annexion with a single genitive; but the genitive is employed with the first, and in the form of a suffix with the second; cde while further, a single construct does not usually stand in annexion with two or more genitives, but is repeated with each f
- d. As a second result of this inseparability, a word or suffix limiting the construct must be placed after the following genitive and not between the construct and the genitive.g.

REMARKS.

(a) 53 all, having almost come to be an adjective, occasionally allows the interposition of a word before its genitive, e. g., 2 Sam. 1:9; other cases in which this is claimed to occur are capable of a different explanation; e. g., Job 27:3; Ps. 45:7; Isa. 28:1; 36:9. Cf. also the bold poetic constructions in Gen. 49:11; Isa. 19:8; 22:16.

- (b) This is most frequent with participles of verbs which are regularly followed by a preposition, e. g., ב תכה ב trust in; שׁכַן בּ dwell in, etc.
- (c) Hence one may not say, "the sons and daughters of David," but "the sons of David and his daughters;" and it is better to say "the God of heaven and the God of earth." than "the God of heaven and earth;" but see Gen. 14:19.
- (d) The same holds true of pronominal suffixes; instead of "his sons and daughters" one must say "his sons and his daughters."
- (e) Sometimes the suffix is omitted, or there is substituted for it the article, in which case the absolute state is employed, e.g., Gen. 40:1.
- (f) Exceptions occur: (1) when the second of the two nouns joined by "and" is a repetition or a synonym of the first; and (2) in poetry where greater liberty is allowed, e.g., Job 20:17; Ezek. 39:4; 2 Sam. 20:19.
- (g) Whether the modifying word which follows two nouns in annexion limits the construct, or the genitive, or the complex idea expressed by both together must be determined from the agreement and from the context. When there would be manifest ambiguity, resort is had to a periphrastic construction ($ 9. 5.).
- 3. a. אנשי המלחמה not men of the war, but the men of war.
 - b. בני רקיע השמים the face of the expanse of the heavens. in the image of God he created him. להאישי שבטיכם the heads of your tribes.
- 4. a. עברים a servant of servants, i. e. the lowest servant. לשיא נשיאי הלוי the prince of the princes of Levi.
 - b. בערוץ נחלים לשכן in the most frightful of valleys they must מונרלם וער-קטנם from the greatest of them even to the least of them.

- 3. The construct, containing only a portion of the idea intended to be conveyed, is incomplete and, in itself, indefinite; hence
- a. The construct cannot receive the article; a or be definite in itself (§ 4. 1.).
- b. The construct, however, becomes definite by position (§ 4. 2), whenever its following genitive is, for any reason, definite.^c d
- 4. The use of annexion to express the superlative idea is worth, of special notice. This is seen,
- a. When the two nouns in annexion are the same, the former being singular, the latter plural.
 - b. When the relation between the nouns is a partitive one (§ 8.3.f).
- 5. Instead of annexion, there is often employed a periphrasis, made by means of the preposition c f. This is substituted when there is a desire on the part of the writer,
 - a. To interpose a word between the construct and genitive.
 - b. To mark the first noun as indefinite, when the second is definite.
- c. To omit entirely the noun which would be in the construct, as in inscriptions, and in the case of common words like son, day, etc.
 - d. To designate explicitly relations of place and time.
 - e. To avoid a long series of constructs.

REMARKS.

(a) Exceptions to this may be classified as follows: (1) Cases where the article seems to have a demonstrative force, Josh. 8:33; cf. also Ps. 123:4; Ezek. 17:15; 1 Kgs. 14:24. (2) Cases where the genitive is a proper name, e. g., 2 Kgs. 23:17; Gen. 31:13; Isa. 36:8. (3) Cases where what seems to be a construct is a participle with an accusative suffix, e. g., Ps. 18:33; Isa. 9:12. (4) Cases where the connection is loose, the second noun denoting the material (and to be regarded in many instances as an adverbial

- (b) Proper names, therefore, except when applied to more than one object, cannot stand in the construct.
- (c) The construct cannot be indefinite and the genitive definite; nor can the genitive be indefinite and the construct definite; either both are definite or both indefinite. To both of these cases, however, exceptions are found, where there would be no room for ambiguity; e. g., Gen. 16:7; 42:19; 9:20; Lev. 14:34; 1 Sam. 17:17; Deut. 22:19.
 - (d) On the determination of words in annexion, see § 5. 1.
- (f) The preposition in from is sometimes employed as a substitute for annexion; e. g., 2 Sam. 19:18; Isa. 6:6; 1 Kgs. 20:35; Ps. 16:4. The sense, in this usage, is generally partitive.

 - 1. The adjective is frequently treated as if it were a substantive:
- a. When it stands in the genitive after a noun in the construct state (§ 8. 3. a.).
 - b. When it stands in the construct state with a following genitive.a
- 2. The adjective (here including participles and demonstratives) when used in an attributive sense,
 - a. Followsb the noun which it modifies.
 - b. Agreesc with it in number and gender.

- c. Receives^d the article, if the noun which it modifies is for any reason a definite noun.
- 3. The adjective (here including participles and demonstratives) when used as a predicate, regularly precedes the subject, yet frequently follows it, when the sense is clear.
 - 4. The comparison of adjectives is expressed as follows:-
- a. The comparative degree, by the use of the preposition from prefixed to the word with which comparison is made f
 - b. The superlative degree,
 - (1) By the emphatic use of the positive with the article, a pronominal suffix or a following genitive.^h
 - (2) By employing the phrase לכל, or ב.
 - (3) By the constructions referred to in § 9. 4.
- 5. The adjectival idea, because of the scarcity of adjectives, is frequently expressed by certain nominal constructions (see § 8. 3. e.).

- (a) This does not include the cases cited under $ 9. 1. c.
- (b) Very rarely does the adjective precede; and in most of these cases the adjective or demonstrative is treated as a substantive; e.g., Ex. 32:1; Ps. 104:25; Ps. 32:10.
- (c) It is to be noted that the adjective is plural when the noun is dual, and that with collectives the construction is often one according to sense; e.g., Isa. 42:7; 1 Sam.
 - (d) The article is quite frequently omitted (see § 5. 2. Rem. d). [13:15:17:28.
- (e) Note also the use of a substantive (or a substantive and preposition) as predicate instead of an adjective, thus emphasizing the idea; Gen. 1:2; Job 3:4; Ps. 25:10; Isa. 5:12.
 - (f) This use of in is frequent also after verbs; e.g., 1 Sam. 10:23; Gen. 37:3.
- (g) The adjective is often omitted and is to be supplied from the context; Mic. 7:4; Job 11:17.
- (h) The individual is thus designated as possessing in a pre-eminent degree the quality referred to.

11. PERSONAL PRONOUN AND SUFFIXES.

- 1. a. לְשֵׁת נָם־הוֹא my death, mine; לְשֵׁת נָם־הוֹא² to Seth also to him.
 - b. בְּלַע הִיא צְעַׁר אָ Bela, that is Zoar; בְּלָע הִיא צְעַׁר אָ פֿבְרוֹן $4.
 - c. הָאָרץ הַהוא that land; הָאָריש הַהוא that man.
 - d. אוה שפט הוא God is Judge; הוא שפט הוא is its name.
- 2. a. בְּרָאָם he created them; בְּרָאָ אֹרָם he created them; בְּרָאָם in he created them; בְּרָאָם thou hast given me.
 - b. אְתְךְּ הְרַגְּתִי and he will make me see it; אָתְךְ אָתוֹ and the choosing him; בְּלְרְתָּה אֹתוֹ ¹⁶ when she bare him; הֵם בַּלְעִיסִים זוֹ they provoke themselves; הַבּלות-אֹתוֹ to smite him.
 - c. בְּלֶבְיּ to him; בְּלֶבְיּ from it; עָבִי upon me; בְּלֶבְּ go for thee take thyself; לוֹ 22 he fled for himself.
 - d. יבְּקְמָל my wrong; אוֹן 125 his fear (caused by him).
- 1. The Personal Pronoun, in its separate form, a side from its ordinary use, be a e is employed,
- a. In apposition with a noun or pronoun in an oblique case, for emphasis (§ 6.3); and in the case of the third person,
 - b. As a brief explanatory particle equivalent to that is.
 - c. As a remote demonstrative (see § 12. 1. b.).
 - d. As a sort of copula (see § 7.6, 7).
- 2. The Pronominal Suffixes are substituted for the personal pronouns in all oblique cases. Here may be noted their use,
 - a. With verbs; fo in which case the suffix is
 - (1) generally the direct object of the verb as an accusative, either directly appended to the verb, or joined to TN (see b. below);
 - (2) sometimes, for brevity, the indirect object, as a dative.
 - b. With the sign of the definite object האָ ;h i this occurs
 - (1) when for emphasis the pronominal idea must be expressed first;

- (2) when a verb has two pronominal objects, only one of which can be joined directly to the verb;
- (3) when it is the object of an Infinitive Absolute which cannot receive a suffix;
- (4) when it is the object of an Infinitive Construct whose subject is a pronominal suffix, or a noun which must stand near it;
- (5) when the pronominal idea is a reflexive one;
- (6) when, by the use of TN, ambiguity is avoided, or greater distinctness secured.
- c. With prepositions:
 - (1) In all the various uses which occur in the case of nouns; and besides
 - (2) In the so-called "ethical dative," which marks "an intimate relation sustained by the subject to the act."
- d. With nouns; here the noun is properly a construct (§ 8. Rem. b), and the suffix a genitive, subjective or objective (§ 8. 1. a. b). k

- (a) The personal pronoun, in its separate form, may be used only as a nominative, except in the case cited in 1. a. above.
- (b) While the personal pronoun is included in the finite verb, it is also written separately (1) for emphasis or contrast; e. g., Ps. 71:22; Gen. 48:19; (2) if a second subject besides the pronoun follows the verb; e. g., Gen. 6:18; 13:1; (3) superfluously, chiefly by later writers; e. g., Lev. 18:26; Eccles. 2:12. [24:36; 19:24.
 - (c) It is not uncommon to repeat a noun rather than employ a pronoun; e.g., Gen.
- (d) The third person rather than the first is generally used by authors in speaking of themselves; e. g., Jer. 7:1; but cf. Isa. 6:1; Jer. 1:4.
- (e) The terms thy servant, thy handmaid for the first person, and of my Lord, the king for the second person are common; e.g., Gen. 18:3; 19:19; 44:18; 2 Sam. 14:12.
- (f) The suffix, when the object of a verb, is often omitted when it can be easily supplied from the context; e. g., Gen. 2:19; 9:22; 38:17; Ex. 2:3.
- (g) It is, on the other hand, sometimes expressed redundantly; e.g., Ex. 2:6; 1 Sam. 21:14; Ezek. 10:3; Isa. 17:6; Josh. 1:2.
- (h) As the language grows older there is an increasing tendency to separate the pronoun from the verb which it modifies.
 - (i) For the usage of the sign of the definite object AN with nouns, see § 12. 2. b.
- (f) "In most cases this mode of expression indicates a special participation in the action by the agent or speaker, a certain earnestness or zeal with which he acts; but it occurs, as an expression of heartiness, more in the diffuse and easy-going popular style, both in poetry and in unimpassioned prose, and especially in sentences in which advice is tendered, or a question asked."—EWALD.
- (h) The suffix, in a few cases, seems almost entirely to have lost its original force; e.g., (1) אָדֹנָי $= my \ lords$ (§ 3. 2. c) = the Lord, used only of God (Gen. 15:2; 18:3); (2) יַחְדָּר = his joinings = he together = together (Ex. 19:8; 1 Kgs. 3:18).
- (l) On the inaccurate, and largely colloquial, interchange of masculine and feminine pronouns and suffixes, see § 2. 1. c.

- 1. In reference to the demonstrative pronoun, it may be noted that
- a. The demonstrative, when attributive, is treated as an adjective (§ 10. 2.).
- b. The personal pronoun of the third person is used as a remote demonstrative a (§ 11. 1. c.).
- c. The article sometimes still retains its original demonstrative force (§ 4. 3. a).
- d. The pronoun \vec{n} , especially in poetry, is often used as a relative pronoun.
- e. The pronoun (sometimes having a preposition) is also used as a demonstrative adverb, sometimes referring to place and sometimes to time; and frequently serves as an enclitic to emphasize words of interrogation (cf. English then).c
- f. The demonstrative is omitted whenever, if expressed, it would stand as a construct before a genitive, or before a relative pronoun.
- g. The demonstratives are often used antithetically = this--that, these--those.
 - 2. In reference to the interrogative pronouns it may be noted that
- a. 12, either singular or plural, refers generally to persons, though very seldom to things.d
- b. nay be used as a genitive after a construct, an accusative with no with prepositions.

- 2. When the particle is immediately preceded by a preposition, or by not the sign of the definite object, or by a noun in the construct state, there is always to be supplied as its antecedent, according to the demands of the context, either a demonstrative pronoun, or a word indicating place or time.

- 3. The relative particle may be omitted from any construction it which it is accustomed to be used, as,
- a. When it would be the subject or object of the sentence, or used as a genitive or dative; and even
- b. When, by its omission, there is also omitted its antecedent (see 2 above) which is included in it.
 - 4. The relative idea is otherwise expressed,
 - a. By the demonstrative pronoun [7] (§ 12. 1. d).
- b. By the article with a participle and rarely with a finite verb (§ 4. 3. f).

- (a) When the pronominal suffix is the object of a verb, it may be omitted as easily understood from the context, and in this case the particle serves alone to express the idea, e. g., Gen. 2:8; 21:3; 26:32; Ex. 4:21.
- (b) Generally one or more words stand between the particle, and the pronoun or adverb which receives from it the relative force.
- c) In Gen. 31:32 and Isa. 47:12 the relative particle is said by some to be directly connected with the preposition.
 - (d) The relative particle is used with 7 as a periphrasis of annexion (§ 9.5. Rem.e).
- (e) The relative particle is largely used in the formation of conjunctions from prepositions and adverbs, but even here it may be omitted, e. g., Josh. 2:22; Gen. 31:20; 1 Sam. 5:9; 2 Sam. 12:22.

Certain ideas, expressed in English by means of pronouns, are otherwise expressed in Hebrew. The more important of these are the following:—

- 1. The reflexive pronoun is expressed,
 - a. By the Nĭph'ăl and Hĭthpă'ēl stems.
- b. By the personal pronoun of the third person and by pronominal suffixes.
- c. By the use of certain nouns like עָצֶם, עָצֶם, (18.2.c), כָּבֶשׁ, and כֻּבָּים, and כֵּב
 - 2. The indefinite pronouns are expressed variously:-
- a. Each, every, by אייט, or the repetition of a word (§ 3. 1. c), or
 - b. Any, anyone, anything, whoever, whatever, by בַל ,דָבַר ,אִישׁ
 - c. Some of, by the preposition in from.
- d. Nothing, nobody, by לא....בֶּל אישׁ, לאָישׁ, לאָ (or אָין אִישׁ, לאַ), כָּל־אָרָם לא
 - e. Such, by בור e. Such, by
- f. The one—the other, by אָרְער אָישׁ, אָישׁ אָישׁ, אַישׁ סר אָישׁ, אָרוּת אָישׁ, סר or in אָרוּת אָשָׁרוֹ, רַעַ אִישׁ, אָרוֹת אָשָׁרוֹ, or the repetition of a noun.

c. אַרְבַע one-half; ישְרֵי one-third; אַרְבַע two-thirds; אַרְבַע four-fifths; אַרְבַע יְרוֹת nine-tenths.

The various constructions of the numerals may be classified as follows:

- 1. אָרְהְיּ is an adjective, and follows the substantive which it modifies. a
- 2. The numerals from two to ten are used with plural nouns and may stand in one of three constructions:
 - a. Before the noun and in annexion with it (§ 8. 2. a).
 - b. Before the noun, with the noun in apposition (§ 6. 2. and Rem. b).
 - c. After the noun, and in apposition with it (§ 6. 1. e).bc
- 3. The numerals from eleven to nineteen are used with plural nouns,^a and usually stand before the noun (${}^{\flat}$ 6. 2. and Rem. b), though sometimes after it (${}^{\flat}$ 6. 1. e).
- 4. The numerals from twenty to ninety may be followed by the substantive (in apposition, cf. § 6. 2. and Rem. b), or may be preceded by the substantive and stand in apposition with it (§ 6. 1. e). In the former case the substantive is generally in the singular, o in the latter it is always in the plural.
- 5. Numerals made up of tens and units vary greatly in usage. They generally follow a plural noun, though sometimes they precede it. The common nouns cited below (Remarks d, e) generally stand in the singular, if the numeral precedes. Frequently the substantive is used twice, in the singular with the ten, in the plural with the unit.
- 6. The numerals אָבְיִם hundred, Digital two hundred, together with the words for three hundred, four hundred, etc., and אָלְבִים thousand, two thousand admit the same constructions as the numerals two to ten (see above 2. a.-c)f The substantive, except in the case of those named in Remarks d, e (below), is in the plural.
 - 7. In the use of the article with numerals, it may be noted that,
 - a. A numeral standing alone receives it, as would any other noun.
- b. When the numeral is in the construct, the article is written with the following substantive; when it is in the absolute, the article may be prefixed to the numeral, or to the substantive, or to both.
 - 8. In reference to the use of ordinals, it may be noted that,
 - a. Those from one to ten are treated as ordinary adjectives.
- b. Above ten, the cardinals are used as ordinals, following in annexion with the noun, or preceding it in apposition.
- c. In dates, the cardinals from one to ten also are often used instead of the ordinals.

- 9. α . Distributives are expressed by the repetition of the numeral, or by the use of the preposition $\dot{\gamma}$.
- b. Numeral adverbs are expressed by forms of בנל, foot, hand, by feminine forms of the cardinals, by dual formations.
- c. Fractions are expressed by specific words (e. g., יהוצי one-half), by the feminine form of the ordinals, by use of the word יְרוֹת, etc.

- (a) אחד is sometimes used as a substantive in annexion with a following word, e. g., 2 Sam. 13:13; Job 2:10.
 - (b) This construction is comparatively rare and late.
- (c) Nouns designating weights and measures are frequently omitted after the numeral, which, however, is masculine or feminine according to the gender of the omitted noun; e. g., Gen. 24:22; 1 Sam. 10:4; Ruth 3:15.
- (d) Certain common nouns stand in the singular with the numerals eleven to nineteen: איש man, איל thousand, אור cubit, מום day, איש silver, נפש soul, שנה year, shekel; e. g., Num. 1:44; Deut. 1:2; Hos. 3:2; Gen. 46:18.
- ' (e) But except in the case of the nouns just mentioned in Rem. d, and a few others denoting weight or measure, such as מבל bath, כר talent, כר gerah, the numerals from twenty to ninety, even when they precede the substantive, usually take a noun in the plural; e.g., Num. 11:25; Ezek. 40:17.
- (f) These words, however, with the exception of מאה, having no construct, cannot stand in annexion with a following substantive.
- (g) In dates the nouns אום day, הורש month are frequently omitted; e. g., Gen. 8:5;
 Ex. 12:3; Deut. 1:3.

The Hebrew has, strictly speaking, two tenses. These, however, do not correspond to the tenses of the Indo-European languages. The following general statements, based chiefly on the examples cited above, although also in part upon a larger induction, will present, briefly, the peculiarities of the Hebrew tenses:

1. The Perfect, used alike of actions or states belonging to the sphere of the past, present, or future, represents the action or state as actually completed (finished), or as conceived of by the writer or speaker as completed. Hence it may be used

³ Num. 24:17.

⁷ Num. 24:17.

¹⁰ Ex. 6:1.

¹³ Gen. 21:30.

⁴ Ex. 15:1.

- a. Of actions belonging to the past, and so finished.
- b. Of actions or states in the present, but regarded as finished.
- c. Of actions or states that are yet to happen, but which, for the sake of effect, the writer or speaker describes as having actually taken place or existed.
- 2. The Imperfect, used alike of actions or states belonging to the sphere of the past, present or future, represents the action or state as actually incomplete (unfinished), or as conceived of by the writer or speaker as incomplete. Hence it may be used
- a. Of actions belonging to the past, but regarded by the writer as incipient or frequentative.
- b. Of actions in the present, regarded as happening or likely to happen.
- c. Of actions in the future, and so, whether the idea be that of mere futurity, or of possibility, obligation, purpose or condition, in the strictest sense unfinished.

GENERAL REMARKS.

- (1) The tense, therefore, has in itself no indication of the order of time; it merely assigns to the action or state a given characteristic, viz., completeness, or incompleteness. The order of time, i. e., the sphere of time (whether past, present, or future) of each action or state must be determined from the context.
- (2) The Imperfect may perhaps better be described as representing an action as coming, or becoming, i. e., as in movement. The Perfect, on the other hand, is the tense of rest. The former represents the thing as doing, the latter represents it as done.
- (3) The names "Past" and "Future" not only fail to convey the true meaning of the tenses, but carry with them an entirely false conception. The names "Aorist" and "Subsequent" are far better; 1 yet also they fail to cover the respective usages of these tenses. The terms "Perfect" and "Imperfect," while not entirely satisfactory, seem, upon the whole, to be the best. They are, however, to be used in the sense described, viz., "finished," unfinished."
- (4) No effort to translate literally the Hebrew tenses will be successful. It is incorrect to say, e. g., that the literal rendering of Gen. 2:5 is and a mist will go up, etc. The future idea is no more a necessary element in the Imperfect tense than in the Perfect. Every attempt to follow rigidly the so-called past and future rendering will fail.

¹ Suggested by Prof. Wm. G. Ballantine, D. D., in October Hebraica, 1885, pp.53-55.

- (5) This peculiarity often appears also in the Greek, e. g., $\pi \epsilon i \sigma a \iota$ differs from $\pi \epsilon i \vartheta \epsilon \iota \nu$, and $\mu \dot{\eta} \pi \epsilon i \sigma \eta \varepsilon$ from $\mu \dot{\eta} \pi \epsilon i \vartheta \varepsilon$ not as to the sphere of time to which they belong, but as to the character of the act. Both are indefinite as to date; the former, however, is momentary, the latter, continuous.
- (6) The distinction indicated by the tenses is not necessarily a real one. It may exist only in the mind of the writer or speaker. He is at liberty, therefore, upon one occasion to describe the action as it really is, upon another, as he for any reason may conceive it to be. Still further, in describing events belonging to the past he may either represent them as they really are, viz., finished, or he may, for the sake of rhetorical effect, represent them as taking place before his eyes. In the same series, one event may be described in one way, the second in the other way. In the representation of events belonging to the sphere of the future, the same liberty may be exercised. At times this is puzzling; but, in most cases, the context is a sure guide.
- (7) There is danger, of course, that in our effort to analyze the various possible uses of the tenses, we may force into them some significations which they were never intended to convey. Prof. Driver, however, has truly said: "In itself the Perfect (for example) enunciates simply the completion of an act: it is by way of accommodation to the usage of another language that, eliciting its special force from the context, we make the meaning more definite by exhibiting it explicitly, as occasion demands, under the form of an aorist, a perfect, or a present."

17. THE PERFECT, USED OF PAST EVENTS.

The Perfect, designating that which is finished, is used of past events. Here may be distinguished,

- 1. The historical perfect (employed in simple narration), which denotes an action or state completed at or during a particular period in the past. This period, long or short, is fixed by the context. There is no reference to other events.
- 2. The present perfect (or Greek perfect), which denotes an action (not a state) completed in the past, but viewed in relation to the present; in other words, an action resulting in a state.^a b
- 3. The indefinite perfect, which denotes an action completed at some point in the past, which "the speaker is not able or desirous to specify more closely."c
- 4. The pluperfect, which denotes a finished action, viewed in relation to some other past action, either already mentioned, or yet to be mentioned.

REMARKS.

- (a) This perfect is frequently to be rendered as a present, though the past should be used wherever it is possible,
- (b) The difference between this and the historical perfect is an important one. The whole interpretation of a passage will turn on the choice made.
- (c) While the exact moment is not specified, the limits within which it must fall are often seen from the context.

The Perfect, as designating that which is finished, is used of events which, indeed, are regarded as completed, yet sustain so close a relation to the present as in many cases to be regarded as belonging to the sphere of the present. Here belong,

- 1. The perfect of the immediate past, which denotes an action finished at the moment or just before the moment of speaking, and is generally best rendered by our present.
- 2. The stative perfect, used of verbs expressing a physical or mental state (see Elements, § 58. Note 3); ab here the state or condition is one which, although entered into in the past, or the result of some past activity, is regarded as existing at the time of speaking, and is, consequently, best rendered by the present.
- 3. The perfect of experience, used to express truths which have been established by experience, and, hence, generally accepted.^d e

REMARKS.

- (a) Compare the Latin novi, memini, and the Greek olda.
- (b) The most common verbs in this class will be found below in the "References for Study."
- (c) It is not to be supposed that the Perfect of these verbs is limited to this usage. They may have, according to the demands of the context, the other uses of the perfect.
 - (d) With this use of the Perfect may be compared the gnomic agrist of the Greek.
- (e) The Imperfect is likewise employed to express general truths, but from a different point of view (§ 21. 3).

The Perfect, as designating that which is finished, or conceived of as finished, is frequently used of events which belong to the sphere of the future.^a Here are to be noted,

- 1. The perfect of certainty, used of actions in the future, which the speaker or actor has fully determined to perform; this occurs especially in the statement of promises, decrees, and contracts.
- 2. The prophetic perfect, really an extension of the Perfect of certainty; this use of the tense portrays boldly and expressively the confidence of the speaker as to the certain occurrence of a yet future event. There may be distinguished,
- a. Cases in which the Perfect is the first verb of a series, the remaining verbs being Perfects of a similar character, or Imperfects with a future meaning.
- b. Cases in which the series of verbal forms, while composed chiefly of Imperfects, contains here and there a Perfect which has been inserted "to give variety to the scene, or to confer particular emphasis upon individual traits in it."
- c. Cases in which the Perfect is used after in assigning a reason for something which, though still future, is deemed certain.
- 3. The future-perfect, which denotes a finished action, viewed in relation to some other action still in the future.^b
- 4. The conditional perfect, used in certain forms of conditional sentences (§ 48. 6,7), in which the fulfillment or non-fulfillment of the condition is thus vividly expressed. c d

REMARKS.

- (a) The ease with which the Hebrew writer passed from one tense to the other is paralleled only by the difficulty which the modern translator finds in expressing the force of the change.
- (b) The auxiliaries shall have, or will have do not always furnish the best rendering of this construction, there being many cases in which, especially after conjunctions,

1 Mic. 5:2.

2 Judg. 8:19.

3 Isa. 1:9.

4 Gen. 43:9.

the ordinary rendering (has or have) is entirely sufficient; e. g., לְנֵלְאָה (Isa. 16:12; Gen. 28:15; 2 Kgs. 4:24).

(c) That the Perfect may also be used to express a wish, i. e., as a Precative, is claimed by some grammarians. In accordance with this usage, the following passages are by some explained: Isa. 26:15; 43:9; Ps. 4:2; 7:7; 10:16; 22:22; 31:6; 57:7; 71:3; 116:16; Job 21:16; 22:18, and a few others. But expositors do not agree on the cases in which this force exists; and nearly every case cited by any writer can be satisfactorily explained in another way.

(d) Of interest, likewise, are those cases in which the Perfect is used in interrogation (1) after such phrases as ער מָתְי till when? בין שוּ to where? e.g., Ex. 10:3; Ps. 80:5; and (2) where the speaker desires to represent a thing as highly improbable; e.g., Gen. 18:12; 21:7; Deut. 5:23; Judg. 11:13.

20, THE IMPERFECT, USED OF PAST EVENTS.

1. a. יאבר יוֹם אוְלֶּדְר בּוֹ perish the day on which I was born. יְבַפְּיָמִר the depths covered them.
יבַפְיָמוּ יִבְפִּיִמוּ the found him in a desert land.

b. או ישיר-משה then sang (proceeded to sing) Moses.

יְהְיֶה כְאֵי הַשְּׁבֶּה מְלֶכֶם יִהְיָה בָא' and no shrub of the field was yet in the earth.

לוכן פינוי then our mouth was filled with laughter.

2. יְעֲשֶׁה שְׁנָה בְשְׁנָה and so he did year by year. [throng.

* מְבָבִית אֱלֹהִים נְהַלֵּךְ בְּרֶנֶשׁ we used to go to the house of God in a הַבִּית שְׁאוּל לֹא תְשׁוּב רֵיקְם Saul's sword never returned empty.

The Imperfect, designating that which is unfinished (developing, moving), is used of events which belong to the sphere of the past. Here may be distinguished:

- 1. The incipient (strictly so called) imperfect, which represents the action so designated as beginning or in movement. This usage,
- a. Is most common in poetic and prophetic diction, when, presenting the action in the most vivid and lively manner, it is equivalent to our historical present, b c d
- b. Is common in prose with certain particles which mark the point in the past at which the action described was still unconcluded. These particles are א then, במרם א not yet.e
- 2. The frequentative imperfect, used to express repeated acts, habits or customs fgh

REMARKS.

- (a) Certain exceptional cases of the Imperfect used of past time are Gen. 37:7; Ex. 8:20; Deut. 32:35; 2 Sam. 15:37; 23:10; 1 Kgs. 7:8b; 21:6; 2 Kgs. 13:20; Jer. 52:7; Ezek. 9:4; Job 6:17; Ps. 56:4.
- (b) This Imperfect is frequently used in poetry immediately after a Perfect, to indicate the "rapid and instantaneous manner in which the second action is conceived as following the first," e. g., Ex. 15:12, 14; Hab. 3:10; Ps. 37:14f.; 74:14; 77:17.
- (c) Just as a prophetic Perfect may be inserted in a series of Imperfects (§ 19. 2. b), so an Imperfect may be inserted in a series of Perfects, and the description thus be rendered more lively and forceful, e.g., Isa. 9:10; Joel 2:3 ff.; Nah. 2:5.
- (d) This Imperfect is also frequently used in descriptions instead of the more commonly employed participle, e. g., Gen. 2:10; and in circumstantial clauses, e. g., 2 Sam. 15:37.
- (e) in is found sometimes with the Perfect; Did also, but rarely; e. g., Gen. 4:26; 24:15; Ex. 4:26; 15:15; 1 Sam. 3:7a; Ps. 90:2.
- (f) The frequentative use of the Imperfect has its origin as follows: the Imperfect characterizes an action or state as uncompleted. The action thus characterized, may, indeed, be one which has not begun; but, if begun, and in the sphere of the past, it must, unless it be a continuous action, be one which is repeatedly exercized. A mere continuous action (see h below) is expressed by the Participle.

5 Ps. 55:15.

³ Ps. 126:2.

^{6 2} Sam. 1:22.

² Gen. 2:5.

⁴¹ Sam. 1:7.

(g) The incipient and frequentative Imperfect denote actions which are unfinished; they differ, however, in that the former is used only of single acts, the latter of several.

(h) The difference between the usage of the Participle and Imperfect is important: the former represents an action as continuing without interruption; the latter as occurring repeatedly. In many cases the difference may be difficult to perceive; a close study, however, will invariably show that there is a distinction, it being impossible to substitute one for the other without a change of meaning. "While the Imperfect multiplies an action, the Participle prolongs it; the one presents a series of units, the other, a continuous line." Cf. Gen. 29:2; 1 Sam. 2:13 f.: 1 Kgs. 10:22.

The Imperfect, as designating that which is unfinished and so developing and moving, is used of actions or states which belong to the sphere of the present. Here we may, for convenience, distinguish,

- 1. The incipient (strictly so called) imperfect, which gives more force and vividness to the action, or represents it as taking place (or beginning to take place), while the words are being spoken.a
- 2. The definite frequentative, used of particular facts which are accustomed to occur more or less frequently within certain limits of time.
- 3. The indefinite frequentative, used in the statement of facts which may and do occur at any time, and of truths universally admitted.b
- 4. The adjectival imperfect, coming strictly under the indefinite frequentative, which, with an omitted relative, serves to denote a general attribute of the object with which it is connected.

REMARKS.

(a) It is not unusual for such an Imperfect to be found in a series of Perfects, referring strictly to the present, thus rendering the style more vivid, as well as more varied; e.g., Isa. 2:8; 9:10; 10:4, 28. Cf. § 20. R. c.

(b) The use of the Imperfect to express "general truths" is to be distinguished from the similar usage of the Perfect of experience (§ 18. 3). The Imperfect emphasizes the idea that the fact or truth is one liable at any time to occur; the Perfect, that it is a permanent and established one, as shown by past experience. The occasional occurrence of both usages in the same verse is sometimes merely for variety, though frequently very significant. Cf. Ps. 2:1 f.; 5:6; 6:7; 7:13 f.; 22:16; 23:5; 26:4, 5; 38:12; Prov. 4:17; 12:12; 28:1; Job 3:17; 11:20.

The Imperfect, as designating that which is unfinished, finds its fullest and largest use in describing events which are yet within the sphere of the future. Here we may distinguish:

- 1. The future imperfect, corresponding to our future. This is merely an extension of the incipient Imperfect (22 21. 1; 22. 1), since future actions are conceived of as events which are to begin at some future time.
 - 2. The potential imperfect, which denotes
 - a. Possibility and capability, usually best expressed by the auxiliaries can, may, or if the action is viewed from the stand-point of the past, by could, might.
 - b. Permission and concession, to be rendered in the same way.b
- 3. The imperative imperfect, used in presenting ideas which are also expressed by the Imperative, or which are practically equivalent to those expressed by the Imperative:
 - a. Command, prohibition; the latter may be expressed only by the Imperfect, the Imperative never being used with a negative (§ 24. 1. a.).
 - b. Obligation, necessity; the exact rendering in these cases must be determined by the demands of the context, e. g., I must sit, I ought to sit, I am to sit, I should sit.
 - c. Entreaty, deprecation; these may be distinguished from command, and prohibition, by noting the position of the speaker and his relation to the person or persons addressed. With this belongs the use of the Imperfect in

- d. Questions implying deprecation or entreaty; cd or perhaps only greater courtesy than would have been expressed by the Perfect.c
- 4. The subjunctive imperfect; under which may be classified loosely three or four general usages:
 - a. In expressions of indefiniteness and uncertainty (compare § 23.2, above);
 - b. In certain forms of conditional sentences (§ 48. 4, 7. a);
 - c. In final sentences after conjunctions, e. g., בְּעַבוּר (זְּמַעַן 47. 4. b).f

- (a) It may be sufficient to say that the Imperfect is used to denote future events because they are in the strictest sense incomplete.
- (b) The cases belonging under the potential Imperfect are to be regarded as Indicatives, since they express independent ideas (cf. $ 23. 4. a).
 - (c) Compare Josh. 9:8 and Gen. 16:8.
 - (d) After איך, מרוע, למה.
 - (e) Compare the use of the Perfect in Gen. 40:15; Isa. 43:22.
 - (f) On the use of the Imperfect with 1 to express purpose, see § 24, 1. e, and 2. d.

The simple Imperfect, in the majority of instances, is an indicative. That it may also be used with the force of an imperative or subjunctive, has been shown in § 22.3. There are, however, certain special forms abca of the Imperfect, the Jussive and Cohortative, which always convey some such force. These forms, it may be said, express "a motion of the will," and hence may be joined together under the head of "voluntative." With the "voluntative" Imperfect, there may be classified for syntactical purposes the Imperative. We may distinguish as follows:—

- 1. The Jussive, used of the second and third persons, and the Imperative, used only of the second, denote, in general, a strong desire that something should happen f They may express
 - a. A positive injunction or command; the Jussive, but not the Imperative, may also express prohibition.ghijk
 - b. Permission to do a thing, advice, or suggestion.
 - c. Entreaty, or simple petition.
 - d. Benediction, imprecation, threatening.
 - e. Conditional or final ideas.
- 2. The Cohortative, used only of the first person^l (sg. or pl.), emphasizes the direction of the will, the intention or purpose.^{m n} It is employed, therefore,
 - a. To mark a strong determination to do a given thing (expressed by I will).
 - b. To indicate a self-excitement toward a certain line of conduct (expressed by let me).
 - c. To express a wish or request.
 - d. In subordinate final sentences (cf. 1. e. above), and in conditional sentences (§ 48. R (i)).

REMARKS.

- (a) See Elements of Hebrew, § 72.1, 2.
- (b) While, therefore, the ordinary form of the Imperfect may have the force of an Imperative or Subjunctive, the special forms must have that force. In many grammatical forms there is no possible way of distinguishing the ordinary and the special form, e. g., ממל, may mean he will kill, he shall kill, let him kill.
- (c) The shortened form of the Jussive, corresponding to the Arabic Jussive, is accounted for by the fact that the form is one of command and hence pronounced rapidly.

- (d) The special form of the Cohortative (marked by the syllable $\overline{n}_{\overline{\gamma}}$) corresponds to the Arabic Energetic, the nature of which is indicated by its name.
- (c) A few cases of the Jussive of the first person are found, e. g., Dt. 18:16; 1 Sam. 14:36.
- (f) The Jussive and likewise the Imperative are often found in poetry where the ordinary form would have been expected. This anomalous usage is to be explained not upon the supposition that the mood has here lost its original force, but that the poet saw fit, for the sake of vividness and variety, to represent a given act under the form of a command, rather than in the usual manner. Cases of this usage in the second person are found in Ps. 41:3; 65:14; 98:7; 104:19; 114:3-7; Isa. 2:9; 13:2; 23:1, 4; 35:1 f.; 40:3, 9; 54:14; 57:14; 62:10. Cases of the same usage which may be said to be expressive of emotion in the third person, are found in Ps. 11:6; 12:4; 34:6; 50:3; 66:7; 72:8, 13, 16, 17; 85:14; 121:3; Jer. 46:6; 51:3; Zech. 9:5; 10:7.
- (g) In prohibition, (l) in the second person, the ordinary Imperfect takes אל and means thou shalt not, the Jussive takes אל and means do not; (2) in the third person, the ordinary Imperfect takes אל and means he shall not, the Jussive takes אל and means let him not; rarely the Jussive takes אל, e. g., קסה אל Gen. 4:12.
- (h) The Cohortative Imperative (Elements of Hebrew, § 72. 3) emphasizes the earnestness of the request, marking it as especially impressive, e. g., Dt. 26:15; Ps. 6:5.
- (f) When several verbal forms expressing command would follow in succession, three usages exist: (1) The use of successive Imperatives, e.g., Gen. 1:22; 22:2; Isa. 1:16; (2) the use of the Imperative for the first, and of ordinary Imperfects for the remaining forms, e.g., Dt. 33:7; (3) the use of the Imperative for the first and of the Perfect with Waw Consecutive for the remaining forms, e.g., Gen. 6:14.
- (j) When several successive commands are made, of which one or more are in the first or third persons, the latter must of necessity be expressed by the Imperfect, e.g., Gen. 24:56; Dt. 9:14; Jer. 51:9.
- (k) The interchange of the Imperative and the Imperfect (2d pers.), in the expression of command, occurs without perceptible force; the only gain being that of variety.
- (l) A few cases of the Cohortative of a third person occur: Isa. 5:19 (twice); Ezek. 23:20; Prov. 1:20; 8:3. In the last three cases it does not seem to have any significance.
- (m) Notice is to be taken here of the fact that a form like that of the Cohortative occurs frequently with the Wāw Consecutive; it is not to be regarded, however, as a Cohortative; Gen. 32:6; 1 Sam. 2:28 and in all about ninety times.
- (n) Cases in which the volition indicated by π_{-} is so controlled by outward circumstances as almost to become an involuntary action are found in Ps. 42:5, 10; 55:3, 18: 77:4, 7; Job 10:1; Isa. 38:10; 59:10; Jer. 3:25. Perhaps in some cases the π_{-} cohortative, like the π_{-} directive, has entirely lost its original force, Ps. 88:16; Jer. 4:19, 21.

REMARK.—In reference to the substitution of the Imperfect with Waw Consecutive for the Perfect, three general statements may be made:

(1) In uninterrupted narrative in which the first verb is a Perfect, or some equivalent of the Perfect, the verbs following are regularly in the Imperfect^a with Wāw Consecutive,^b unless they are separated from the conjunction by intervening words.^c

¹¹ Sam. 1:18.

⁴ Ex. 4:22,23. ⁵ Ps. 144:3.

⁷¹ Sam. 2:6. 82 Sam. 19:2.

¹⁰ Isa. 9:5. 11 Jer. 4:16.

² Gen. 32:31. ⁸ Gen. 24:62,63.

⁶ Isa. 40:24.

⁹ Ps. 80:9.

- (2) The expression for and-he-called being, therefore, וַּיִּקְרָא, the form cannot be used in this sense; see, however, § 26. 2.
- (3) From the instances cited above, it will be seen that the introductory verbal form may, under certain circumstances, be an Imperfect, or a Participle; in some cases even a noun is employed, and in others, no governing word of any kind precedes.

We may now consider the more important details:

- 1. The Imperfect with Wāw Consecutive is found, like the Perfect, for which it is a substitute,
- a. To describe events or conditions belonging to the sphere of the past (§ 17.1-4), whether as a historical Perfect, a present Perfect, an indefinite Perfect, or a Pluperfect; in these cases it is the continuation of a Perfect.
- b. To describe events or conditions belonging to the sphere of the present (§ 18.1-3), whether as a Perfect of the immediate past, a stative Perfect, or a Perfect of experience; in these cases it is the continuation of a Perfect, or a Participle, or a nominal expression, or even an Imperfect which refers to the present.
- c. To describe events belonging to the sphere of the future; it assumes here the usage of the prophetic Perfect (§19.2). Two cases are, however, to be distinguished:
 - (1) that in which the Imperfect with Waw Consecutive, having this usage, is preceded by a prophetic Perfect.
 - (2) that in which it is not so preceded; this occurs when the writer desires to introduce a prophetic Perfect for variety, but, at the same time, wishes to connect it with what precedes.

REMARKS.

- (a) On the form of the Imperfect which is thus used with the Waw Consecutive, see Elements of Hebrew, $73.
- (b) Various theories have been presented in explanation of the form of the conjunction, •]. Ewald's view, that the vowel and Dāghēš-forte were the relics of some particle like in, seems most satisfactory.
- (c) For the explanation of the use of the tense in this connection, Professor Driver says: "The Imperfect (from the point of view of the spectator) expresses what in German is called Eintritt, and represents action, as eintretend—two terms which may be rendered in English by ingress and ingressive. A succession of events need not invariably be regarded as a mere series of completed and independent wholes: each term may be conceived as having relations with the one preceding it; it may be viewed as stepping in after it, as presenting itself to view through an entrance prepared by its forerunner. The date at which the ingress, or entry, is imagined to take place is determined by the •\(\frac{1}{2}\), which connects the new event with a point previously assigned in the narrative: the goal at which it sets out, the starting-point from which it takes its origin, and to which therefore it is relative, is fixed at the termination of the action denoted by the preceding verb."—Hebrew Tenses, p. 85.

- (d) Two comparisons may be considered here with profit: (1) In Assyrian there are two forms of the Imperfect, differing only slightly from each other, and both etymologically connected with the Hebrew Imperfect; of these the first represents an action as continuing, whether in past, present, or future; the second is the usual narrative tense, equivalent to the Greek Aorist, e. g., iddin (= in-din), the etymological equivalent of [h], always means he gave, while [h] has this meaning only when preceded by a Waw Consecutive. (2) In Arabic, there are not a few cases in which the Imperfect is used in the sense of an Aorist, e. g., ya-qum, the etymological equivalent of [h], when preceded by the negative adverb lam means he did not stand; [h], is so translated only when the Waw Consecutive precedes.
- (e) Some assert that an Imperfect with Waw Consec. may be used as a Pluperfect without any preceding Perfect, e. g., אָלָרָר, Isa. 8:3; אָנְיָב'אָ, 37:5; but this may well be doubted.
- (f) Having introduced his thought by a prophetic Perfect, the writer may continue it in one of four ways: (1) by an Imperfect with Waw Consecutive; (2) by changing abruptly to the Imperfect used in a future sense; (3) by a Perfect, the connective "and" being omitted; (4) by a Perfect, the connective "and" being separated by certain words from the yerb.
- (g) This is of course rare and limited to prophetic usage; according to Professor Driver (p. 114) the only cases are Isa. 2:9; 5:15f.; 9:10-15; 59:15b-17; Ezek. 28:16; 31:12; Jer. 4:16; 15:6b-7; 51:29; Ps. 64:8-10; 94:23; but some of these are doubtful.
- 2. a. בְּיַרְכֶּם בְּיָרְבְּהוּ and Cain rose up and slew him.

 בירָם בְּיִינְבוּ וּיְבָאוּ אָל־בִּירָם and they returned and came unto their house.
 - b. אֶת־קוֹלְךְ שָׁבַעְתִי וְאִירָא I heard thy voice in the garden, and so was afraid and hid myself.

מתה לי לְאִשְׁה and so I took her to be my wife.

c. בְּיִשְׁמֵע עָם קוֹל איִם זיַ did ever a people hear the voice of God, and yet live?

מאַרַכּח. וַאַמַרְתִּם I loved you . and yet ye say. [is dead.

- d. אָשָׁר-אַלְכְנָה אָנִי וַיְּכְת אִישִׁי I am a widow, for my husband אַנְי וַרְיָבְת אִישִׁי I am a widow, for my husband ווּתְלְרָא שְׁמוֹ משֶׁה וַתְּאֹמֶר and she called his name Moses, and said, etc.

דְבַר־י׳ וַיִּמְאָּםְרָ because thou hast despised the word of Y., therefore he hath despised thee.

יִישְׂבְעוּ וַיְּלְנוּ f they are not satisfied, then they stay all night.

- 2. The use of the Imperfect with Waw Consecutive marks some kind of connection, or relation with that portion of the narrative which precedes. This relation may be that of
 - a. Chronological sequence; in this case the force is expressed by the simple conjunction and.
 - b. Consequence; in this case the force may be expressed by and so.
 - c. Contrast; in this case the force may be expressed by and yet.
 - d. Accessory circumstance, when something passed over is afterwards brought in; here the force of the conjunction may best be rendered by for, or since.
 - e. Amplification, when, after a general statement has first been made, the particulars of the case are added.
 - f. Explanation of a preceding expression or word; here the conjunction must be rendered by a relative pronoun, or by that or how.
 - g. Apodosis, the protasis being either a noun in the nominative absolute (§7.), or a complete conditional clause; here the conjunction must either be omitted, or rendered by some such word as then or therefore.a,b,c

REMARKS.

(a) In quite a number of cases the action expressed by the Imperfect with Wāw Consecutive is really parallel or synchronous with what goes before; e. g., Gen. 5:5; 1 Sam. 14:25b,49; Isa. 39:1; 64:4.

⁸ Num. 20:14,15.

^{5 1} Sam. 14:19.

² Isa. 49:7.

⁴¹ Sam. 15:23.

⁶ Ps. 59:16.

- (b) In other cases the Imperfect with Waw Consecutive introduces an amplification not of any particular preceding verb, but of the entire preceding narrative, considered as a whole; thus furnishing what is practically a parallel account; e.g., 1 Sam. 9:1: 1 Kgs. 7:13.
- (c) It is only fair to ask how far some of these usages are to be explained as due to the combining, by a reviser or editor, of two or more distinct narratives into one,
- 3. a. וְיַקרָא א' לַאוֹר יוֹם וְלַחְשֵׁךְ כְרָא לִילָה and God called the light day, and the darkness he called night.

יברא אתו and God created...., in the image of God created he him.

b. וירעם בשמים י' ועליון יתן קולו and Y. thundered in the heavens, and the Most High uttered his voice.

לבי מלאו מקדם...ובילדי נכרים ישפיקו for they are filled from the east, and they strike hands with the children of strangers.

4. 'נְיהִי בַּאָת הַהְוֹא וַיּאֹמֵר א׳ and it came to pass at that time that Abimelech said.

ימים ויבא ק' מין ימים ויבא ק' and it came to pass at the end of days that Cain brought, etc.

משר אמרפל יינהי בימי אמרפל and it came to pass in the days of Amraphel....they made war.

מיהי השמש באה...והנה and it came to pass the sun had gone down....and behold.

- 5. כהרימי קולי ואקרא as I lifted up my voice and cried. [me.לי ליבא ליי that hath taken venison and brought it to
- 3. When for any reason one or more words intervene between the Imperfect and its conjunction,
- a. In prose, the verb invariably goes back to the Perfect; for the whole force of the construction seems to rest upon the union of the verbal form and the conjunction; but

³ Ps. 18:4.

⁶ Gen. 4:3.

- b. In poetry, the verb is frequently found still remaining in the Imperfect, thus adding vividness and force to the narrative, in accordance with the principle explained in ? 20.1. a.
- 4. Notice is to be taken of the frequent occurrence of the preparatory formula מול and it happened, and it was, to introduce adverbial and especially temporal clauses. This usage, while not universal, prevails largely in the earlier books. The following verb may be either Imperfect with Wāw Consecutive, a Perfect, or, when the context demands, an Imperfect. Frequently, also, the sentence is resumed by יְּלְהָלֶהְ, or by יְּ with the subject of the verb.
- 5. The Imperfect with Wāw Consecutive is used to continue a sentence introduced by an Infinitive or Participle. This occurs, in contrast with the parallel usage of the Perfect, with Wāw Consecutive (§ 25.5), when that which is described by the Infinitive or Participle is something real or definite, rather than contingent or indefinite.

REMARK.—In reference to the substitution of the Perfect with Wāw Consecutive for the Imperfect, Imperative, etc. (cf. the corresponding construction § 24.), three general statements may be made:

- (1) In uninterrupted narration in which the first verb is an Imperfect, an Imperative, or some expression possessing the characteristics of these forms, the verbs following are regularly in the Perfect^a with Wāw Consecutive, unless they are separated from the conjunction^b by intervening words. c,a
- (2) The expression for and-he-will-call being therefore לְּכְּרָא, the form יְכְרָא cannot be used in this sense; see, however, § 26.2.
- (3) From the instances cited above and below, it will be seen that the introductory verbal formula may be an Imperfect, Imperative, Participle; that in some cases even a noun may be employed, and, in others, no governing word of any kind precedes.

We may now consider the more important details:

- 1. The Perfect with Waw Consecutive is found (with a preceding Imperfect or equivalent) like the Imperfect (or Imperative, or Participle), for which it is a substitute.
- a. To describe events or conditions belonging to the sphere of the past (§ 20. 2), especially as a frequentative Imperfect.

⁴ Lev. 1:2.

⁶ Gen. 8:17.

⁸ Isa. 28:13.

² Ruth 2:7. 8 Jud. 19:13.

⁵ Ex. 3:16.

⁷ Gen. 12:13.

⁹ Gen. 3:22.

- b. To describe events or conditions belonging to the sphere of the present (§ 21.1-3), whether as an incipient, definite frequentative, or indefinite frequentative Imperfect.
- c. To describe events belonging to the sphere of the future (§ 22. 1-4); whether (1) after an Imperfect, Participle, or prophetic Perfect, as a future Imperfect; (2) after a jussive or cohortative Imperfect; (3) after an Imperative; (4) after a subjunctive Imperfect expressing purpose. e.f.

- (a) On the form of the Perfect when thus used, and especially on the change of accent which takes place, see Elements of Hebrew, $ 73.
 - (b) On the form of the conjunction when thus used see Elements of Hebrew, $ 73.
- (c) In explanation of this use of the Perfect three points may be considered: (1) that the idiom corresponds to and was called forth by the opposite construction of the Imperfect with Wāw Consecutive;* (2) that "the usage rests originally upon a 'play of the imagination,' in virtue of which an action, when brought into relation with a preceding occurrence as its consequence, from the character of inevitability it then assumes, is contemplated as actually completed;"† (3) "that the consciousness of this relation is to be conceived as essentially dependent upon union with Wāw, of which union the change of tone (where not hindered from taking place by external or accidental causes) is the inseparable criterion and accompaniment," the Wāw appearing really in this connection to possess a demonstrative significance, and being equivalent to then or so (cf. Gen. 3:5).‡
- (d) In Assyrian the Perfect has been greatly narrowed (or has not been developed) in its usage, and presents no analogy to the construction under consideration. In Arabic the Perfect after the conjunction 'adha when, as often as, is said to take the meaning of the Imperfect.
- (e) It is to be noted that the exact modal force of the preceding dominant verb, characterizes also the following Perfect with Waw Consecutive; in other words, the particular auxiliary used in translating the first verb, will, should, let, must also be used with the second.
- (f) The following is a list of particles given by Driver which govern a Perfect with Wāw Consecutive following an Imperfect:—(1) אָל perhaps, Gen. 27:12; (2) אַר or if, 1 Sam. 26:10; (3) אָן then, 1 Sam. 6:3; (4) אַר how? - 2. The Perfect with Wāw Consecutive is frequently found without a preceding Imperfect (or equivalent) to introduce it. Here we may distinguish several usages:
- a. When the Perfect (with Waw Consecutive) is equivalent to a frequentative Imperfect; in such cases the verbal form, but for its connection with what precedes, would have been in the Imperfect.a,b
 - b. When it is equivalent to an ordinary future Imperfect.
- c. When it is equivalent to an Imperative expressing a command or entreaty.
- d. When it is used in the apodosis of a conditional sentence, the protasis being expressed either by a Participle, an Infinitive, a finite verb (Perf. or Impf.), or a noun.^c, d
- 3. When for any reason one or more words intervene between the Perfect and its conjunction, the verb goes back to the Imperfect.

- (a) It will be noted that, in such passages, an Imperfect is frequently found in connection with the Perfect (with Waw Consecutive), e. g., in Ex. 18:26, ישפוטו and יביאון.
 - (b) Notice also the series of Perfects in Josh. 15:3-11; 16:2,3,6,7,8; 17:9; 18:12-21, etc.
 - (c) Here has a demonstrative force; cf. the use of fa in Arabic.
- (d) Notice the use of the Perfect with Wāw demonstrative after a Participle, Judg. 7:17;1 Kgs. 2:2;18:11,12;20:36;2 Kgs. 7:9, etc.
 - (6) There are very few cases of this, nearly all being cited by Driver, p. 181.
- 4. a. וְרָיָה בְּעַנִני עָנְן...וְנְרְאַתְה and it shall be when I bring clouds then shall be seen....

בְּיָכִים בּיְכִים and it shall be in the end of days.

- b. יְרֵהְ בְּבֹא מִשֶּׁה הָאְהֵלְה יִבר and it used to be when Moses entered the tent there would come down.
 - 'וְבֶּיָה אָם זְרַע י' וְעָלָה מ' and it used to happen when Israel had sown that Midian would come up.
- 5. בְּבֶה אִישׁ וְבֵת the smiter of a man and he dies.

 הַבְּשְׂרִים the smiter of a man and he dies.

 הַבְּשְׂרִים the smiter of a man and he dies.

- 4. Notice is to be taken of the frequent occurrence of the preparatory formula וְהָיָה (cf. יְהִיּה 24.), to introduce adverbial and especially temporal clauses. There may be distinguished,
 - a. The cases in which והיה has the force of a future.
 - b. The cases in which it has a frequentative force.
- 5. The Perfect with Wāw Consecutive is used to continue a sentence introduced by an Infinitive or Participle. This occurs, in contrast with the parallel usage of the Imperfect with Wāw Consecutive (§24.5), when that which is described by the Infinitive or Participle is something contingent or indefinite rather than real or definite.

There are cases in which, contrary to the principles set forth in §§ 24, 25. there is found the Perfect with Wāw Conjunctive instead of the Imperfect with Wāw Consecutive, or the Imperfect with Wāw Conjunctive instead of the Perfect with Wāw Consecutive. All such cases are to be regarded as exceptional. They may be loosely classified as follows:

1. Instead of the Imperfect with Waw Consecutive (•), there is used the Perfect with Waw Conjunctive,

- a. When the second action is synonymous or simultaneous with the first, and is consequently to be represented as co-ordinate with it, the usual construction representing it as subordinate.
 - b. In the later books in which the influence of the Aramaic is felt.a
 - c. In instances of which no sufficient explanation can be given.b
- 2. Instead of the Perfect with Waw Consecutive, there is found the Imperfect with Waw Conjunctive,
- a. When the Imperfect is a voluntative, and, combining with 1, furnishes a most concise and elegant expression of purpose (§24.1.e, 2.d).
- b. When, as in the case of the Perfects cited above (§ 26.1. a), the second is to be treated as co-ordinate, being emphatic, or synonymous with the first,—whether used in the sense of a future or a frequentative.^d
- c. When the Imperfect follows another Imperfect introduced by a conjunction.

- (a) The Imperfect with Waw Consecutive continues even in the later books to be the prevailing construction except in the Book of Ecclesiastes, in which, according to Driver, it occurs only three times (1:17; 4:1,7). This construction, however, is not found in Aramaic.
 - (b) Some of these cases occur in the very earliest books.
- (c) While in most cases the special form of the voluntative, i. e., the Jussive or Cohortative, is employed, in many the usual form of the Imperfect occurs.
 - (d) This is, of course, more frequent in poetry than in prose.
 - (e) These cases are few, cf. Driver, p. 162.

- b. The passive Participle is often equivalent with Latin Participle in dus.
- 4. a. The subject of the Participle generally precedes it; but it sometimes follows, especially when the verbal idea is to be emphasized.
- b. The subject of the Participle is occasionally omitted, and in such cases must be supplied from the context.
- 5. The Participle is found joined in one way or another with finite verbal forms, as follows:
 - a. Following an Imperfect.
 - b. Followed by a Perfect or Imperfect.
- c. Followed by a Perfect or Imperfect with Waw Consecutive (cf. the usage in §§ 24. 5; 25. 4b).

- (b) On the use of the Participles with the article, see § 4.3.f.
- (c) This construction is especially frequent in poetry.
- (d) The Participle is sometimes followed by \(\) (dative of advantage or disadvantage) rather than by an accusative, e. g., 1 Sam. 11: 9.
- (e) Cases in which both constructions of the Participle (nominal and verbal) occur simultaneously are not infrequent, e. g., אשה שחר עיפה Amos 4:13.
- (f) On the force of the Participle as compared with that of the Imperfect, see § 20. R. (h).
- (g) Note the rarity in earlier books of the use of a Participle with a finite verb (e.g., Gen. 4:17; 37:2; 1 Sam. 2:11) as compared with the same usage in later books (e.g., Neh. 1:4; 2:13,15).
- (h) The Participle, as well as the Perfect ($18.3) and the Imperfect ($21.3), may be used to express a general truth, e. g., Ps. 19:2; 29:5, but only in later Hebrew.
- (i) Note also its frequent use as an appositive of a preceding substantive, e. g., Isa. 40:22,23.
- (j) With use of the Participle for the present, compare the similar usage in Aramaic, where it is more common than the proper participal usage.
- (k) In this usage the Participle is often preceded (for vividness) by הנה behold; though this particle is also employed when the Participle refers to the past or present, e. g., 1 Kgs. 19:5; 1 Sam. 14:33.

28. THE INFINITIVE ABSOLUTE.

1. בְּלְ-עִיר the destroying every city.

² Isa. 22:13,

- 2. a. לְא אָבוּ בִּרְרְבְיו הְלוֹךְ they would not walk in his ways.

 רְאַיִּתִי they would not walk in his ways.

 I see committing adultery and walking in lies.
 - b. יְמֶבֹת אֹתוֹ טְחוֹן הִיטֵב and I stamped it, grinding diligently. אָאָירָא הַרְבָּה מְאֹרְ and I was very much afraid.

The Infinitive absolute^a partakes of both a nominal and a verbal character.^b Like the verb^c it may govern a noun in the accusative; like the noun it may be construed as a nominative, genitive, or accusative. Its more important usages may be classified as follows:

- 1. It may govern a dependent noun only in the accusative; it never stands in annexion. d
- 2. a. It may stand as an accusative, e,f governed by a finite verb, but the Infinitive construct is more frequently employed.
- b. It may stand as an adverbial accusative, equivalent to an ordinary adverb.g

REMARKS.

- (a) The Infinitive absolute differs from the Infinitive construct in being more stiff, and in being unable either to stand in annexion with a following word, or to be governed by a preceding preposition.
- (b) "1. The Semitic Infinitive is really not an Infinitive in the sense of the term as used in Greek, Latin, German [and English] grammar; for it was originally, and has remained to the present day, a true noun, which contains in itself all the properties of the noun, and is construed as such in the sentence. The most which can be admitted is, that this noun sometimes gives up its capacity for inflection, and becomes an adverb; but never in any case does it pass over into the verb-system, in the manner which characterizes the proper Infinitive idea. 2. The Semitic nomen actionis expresses the abstract idea of being, acting, or suffering; and has been derived from the verb in the way in which verbal derivatives, with a concrete meaning, passed over into the abstract meaning. 3. This abstract verbal noun, through its derivation from the verb, has received the power of construction peculiar to the verb, so that it can subordinate another noun in the accusative, and attach to itself a subject in the nominative; while, on the other hand, it has no power whatever, in itself, of expressing any difference in tense, or in the kind of verb. 4. From the agreement in form among the different branches of the Semitic family of languages, it plainly follows that even the original Semitic language had already handed over the function of the abstract verbal noun to certain forms."5
- (c) The Infinitive, like the Participle, is without tense, referring alike to past, present, or future, according to the demands of the context.
 - (d) The Infinitive absolute rarely has a subject, e.g., Ps. 17:5.

³ Deut. 9:21.

⁴ Neh. 2:2.

- (e) Sometimes also as a nominative, e. g., Isa. 32:17; 2 Chron. 31:10; and as a genitive, e. g., Isa. 14:23.
 - (f) The suffix governed by the Infinitive absolute must have TN.
- (g) The most common Infinitives thus used are הרבח, Gen. 15:1; הרבח, Gen. 21:16; הרבה, Ex. 30:36; אים, Isa. 29:14; השכם, Sam. 17:16; הבל, Josh. 3:17; הקף, Josh. 6:11; מהר, Josh. 6:11; מהר, Josh. 17:16. With the exception of מהר, Josh. 2:5, all forms thus used are in the Hiph'il.
- 3. a. רְאוֹ כִי הְיָה י' עָכֶּוְךְ we saw for a certainty that Y. was with thee.

יָּפֶּקְר פָּקַרְתִּי אֶּתְכֶם I will surely visit you. וֹנִשְׁאַל נִשְׁאַל כִּמְנִי he urgently besought me.

אָבְער הֵעִיר בְּנוּ he strictly charged us.

- c. אורן ארור curse ye bitterly.

וראו ראו באו שמוער שמוע hear ye indeed....and see ye indeed.

d. פְּנִישָׁבוּ הַבְּיִם and the waters kept continually receding.

ונעוֹ הלוך וגעוֹ they went going on and lowing.

- 3. The Infinitive absolute^a is used in connection with a finite verb^b (generally of the same root^c and stem^d), as a sort of cognate or absolute accusative ($\mathbreak{2}$ 31. 4). Various cases arise:—
- a. The Infinitive may precede the finite verb, and mark the certainty of the idea conveyed or intensify it. of
- b. The Infinitive may follow the finite verb, and convey the idea of repeated or continued action.
- c. The Infinitive may follow the finite verb, and, as when preceding it, intensify the idea.
- d. Two Infinitives may follow, one of which is frequently דָלֹרָ:
 and the idea thus emphasized is that of continuance.h

REMARKS.

- (a) The Infinitive construct is rarely employed for the Infinitive absolute, e. g., Ps. 50:21; Ruth 2:16; Neh. 1:7.
 - (b) Sometimes the finite verb is omitted, the Infinitive only remaining.

⁵ Gen. 19:19. ⁶ Num. 24:10.

⁸ Isa. 6:9.

^{10 1} Sam. 6:12.

- (c) In poetry the Infinitive is sometimes of a different (though cognate) root, e. g., Jer. 8:13: 48:9: Isa. 28:28.
- (d) The Infinitive absolute is frequently in Qal when the finite verb is of a different stem; e.g., in the Niph., Ex. 19:13; 21:20,22,28; Mic. 2:4; in the Pi'el or Pu'al, Josh. 24:10; Gen. 37:33; in the Hiph'il, 1 Sam. 23:22; in the Hith., Isa. 24:19. Cf. also Lev. 19:20; Ezek. 16:4.
- (e) The particle D1 is frequently employed to give additional emphasis; it stands between the verb and the infinitive; e.g., Gen. 31:15; 46:4; Num. 16:13.
- (f) A negative, in such cases, generally stands between the Infinitive and the verb, e. g., Ex. 5:23; 34:7; Deut. 21:14; Nah. 1:3; Mic. 1:10; though sometimes before both verb and Infinitive, e. g., Gen. 3:4; Amos 9:8; Ps. 49:8.
- (g) While the Infinitive, when it follows the verb, generally gives the idea of repetition or continuance, there are many cases in which this force is not allowed by the context, e. g., Gen. 31:15; Isa. 22:17; Jer. 22:10.
- (h) In connection with הלך, used to express continuance, the second word, which then expresses the principal idea, may be not only an Infinitive absolute, but also a Participle, or verbal adjective, e. g., 1 Sam. 2:26; 14:19; 2 Sam. 3:1; 1 Chron. 11:9.
- 4. a. אָת־לְבִי 'וְנְתוֹן אָת־לְבִי all this have I seen and applied my heart.

הַבְּדִים הַבְּדִים and they blew the trumpets and broke the pitchers.

- b. יוֹכַת הְאִישׁ....רָגֹם אֹתוֹי...בֶל-הְעָרָה let the man be put to death ...let all the congregation stone him.
 - ים לְנְרָרִי אָנְרָרִי לְנְרָרִי to the stranger thou shalt give it, or sell it to an alien. [watch, etc.
- 5. a. "ערור הַשְּלְחוֹ צַפּה הַצַּפִית ונו" they prepare the table, set the
 - b. אכול והותר ye shall eat and leave thereof.
 - c. יְּוֹכוֹר אֶת-יוֹם הַשַּׁבְּת remember the Sabbath day. יְּכוֹר אֶת-הַסְּבָּרִים הָאֲלֶּה take thou these documents.
 - d. רְוְעֵלֵה יִי כְּהָל וְנָתוֹי I will bring up a company and deliver them to vexation.
 - 4. The Infinitive absolute is used to continue the verbal idea^a
 - a. Introduced by a Perfect, or an Imperfect with Waw Consecutive.
 - b. Introduced by an Imperfect referring to the future.

⁴ Deut. 14:21.

^{6 2} Kgs. 4:43.

⁸ Jer. 32:14.

² Judg. 7:19.

⁵ Isa. 21:5.

⁷ Ex. 20:9.

⁹ Ezek. 23:46.

³ Num. 15:35.

- 5. The Infinitive absolute is, still further, used as a concise and vivid substitute for a finite verb; b c as,
- a. For the Perfect in narration and description; cf. Latin Historical Infinitive.
 - b. For the Imperfect, referring to the future.
 - c. For the Imperative, when it is to be expressed emphatically.
 - d. For the Cohortative, in the way of exclamation.d

- (a) Especially frequent in later literature, when it was thought sufficient to express the distinction of tense, number and person in the first verbal form and allow it to be understood in the case of those following.
- (b) For examples of its use where the subject is expressed, see Gen. 17:10; Ps.17:5; Prov. 17:12; etc.
- (c) This usage is probably due to the ellipsis of the finite verb, e.g., אָכוֹל הָאכִלוּ for זָכוֹר, for זָכוֹר, זָכוֹר , אֶכוֹל הְאַכְלוּ הְאַכְלוּ , עָכוֹר , זָכוֹר , אֶכוֹל הְאַכְלוּ
- (d) In none of these cases, or in those under 4 a, b, may the Infinitive have a negative.

The Infinitive construct, like the Infinitive absolute, partakes of both a nominal and a verbal character. It is much more flexible than the Infinitive absolute and may, at one time, exercise both functions.

- 1. The Infinitive construct as a nouna may be used,
 - a. As a nominative serving as the subject,
 - b. As a genitive depending upon a preceding construct,
 - c. As a genitive depending on a preceding preposition,b
 - d. As an accusative, the direct object of a verb.

5 Gen. 21:5.	10 Deut. 29:12.	15 2 Sam. 19:20.	20 Isa. 32:7.

- 2. a. The Infinitive construct, likewise the verbal noun, which is really an Infinitive, governs as its direct object a noun which is construed as an accusative.c,d
 - b. The Infinitive construct may have a subject, which will be
 - (1) a noun placed immediately after it as genitive, or
 - (2) a noun following it (not always immediately) as a nominative. e.f. g
- c. The Infinitive construct may be followed by two nouns, a subject and an object, in which case the former of the two is the subject (either genitive or nominative).^{h,i}

- (a) While the Infinitive construct is in many respects a noun, it does not receive an article, cases like אָת הַּדְּעָח (Gen. 2: 9) being rare and exceptional.
- (b) I with the Infinitive construct is equivalent to while, when (quando); I, as soon as, when (cum with subjv.).
 - (c) The object of the Infinitive construct is never a genitive.
- (d) Only the suffix of the first person may be appended as an accusative to the Infinitive; other suffixes, except occasionally the third plural, must have \mathbb{N} .
- (e) In Arabic there are three possible constructions: (1) Infinitive, subj. in gen., obj. in acc.; (2) Infinitive, obj. in gen., subj. in nom.; (3) Infinitive, subj. in nom., obj. in acc.
- (f) Since the case-endings have been lost, it is often impossible to determine whether the subject is a genitive or nominative; but it may clearly be taken as a nominative (1) when the $\frac{1}{2}$ prefixed to the inf. has pretonic $\frac{1}{2}$ (e.g., 2 Sam. 19:20); (2) when a word stands between the Infinitive and the subject (see above).
- (g) The subject is frequently omitted when it can be supplied from the context, e.g., Gen. 24:30; Isa. 5:2.
- (h) Sometimes the object rather than the subject follows the Infinitive, e.g., Josh. 14:11; Isa. 5:24; 20:1.
- (i) The Hebrew by the "combination of the verbal and nominal construction of the Infinitive construct is enabled to secure wonderful brevity," e. g., Gen. 39:18; Deut. 22:2.
- 3. a. יְלְכְּוֹר אֶת-יוֹם הש' לְקְרְשׁוּ remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy.

 - c. פְוְיּשְאַל אֶת־נַפְשׁוֹ לְמוּת and he asked for himself to die.

 אריבון אָתְכֶם לַחֲלֹן he will not permit you to go.
 - 3. The Infinitive construct with the preposition >,
 - a. Is used primarily to express purpose.a
 - b. May be rendered "is to," "is about to," in statements of time.b
 - c. Is sometimes best expressed by "can" (= possibility).
 - d. Denotes consequence, "that," "so that."
 - e. Marks a concomitant circumstance (= gerund in do).c
- 4. The Infinitive construct with the preposition $\stackrel{,}{\sim}$ occurs when the Infinitive alone would have answered,^d
 - a. After verbs of beginning, ceasing.
 - b. After verbs implying ability, or possibility.
 - c. After verbs of wishing, commanding, refusing.

- (a) Cf. the more emphatic construction (1) with למען, Deut. 8:3; 1 Kgs. 12:15; Isa. 30:1; Jer. 32:29; Mic. 6:5,16; (2) with למענור, 2 Sam. 17:14; 18:18.
 - (b) The use of לעשות in לעשות, Isa. 5:2, till it should produce, is worthy of note.
- (c) "It thus serves to characterize more closely the idea of the verb by stating the sphere in which the action moves;" the phrase is best translated by treating the Infinitive as the main verb, and the finite verb as an adverb.
 - (d) The Infinitive as subject semetimes has 7, e. g., Prov. 21:9; 2 Sam. 18:11.

Verbs which govern two accusatives may be classified as follows: a, b

- 1. The causative of stems which in the Qal governed one accusative.
- 2. Verbs denoting to clothe, cover; to plant, sow, which have or are assigned a causative force even in Qăl.
 - 3. Verbs denoting to fill, satisfy, sustain, and the opposite.
 - 4. Verbs denoting to give, bestow; to ask, answer, teach.
 - 5. Verbs denoting to name, appoint, consider.
 - 6. Verbs denoting to make into, c make out of, build, form, etc.
- 7. Verbs which take, besides a direct object, a remote object which specifies more distinctly the object affected by the action, or the circumstances connected therewith.

REMARKS.

- (a) Many of these verbs are also construed with prepositions.
- (b) Verbs which in the active govern two accusatives, in the passive govern one.
- (c) Here belong בנה, שות, שות, שום, etc.

Any verb may take a noun of the same stem to define and explain the verbal idea. This is called the cognate accusative. Here may be distinguished:

- 1. Cases in which the accusative furnishes a concrete example of the action expressed by the verb, and is employed either to express special emphasis, or where in modern languages the verb would be a word of general significance (cf. the usage in Latin and Greek).
- 2. Cases in which the cognate accusative, followed either by an adjective or a genitive, furnishes additional information concerning the action of the verb.
- 3. Cases in which this accusative is cognate not in stem, but only in signification. Hence arises a number of common and concise expressions, used, for the most part, in poetry.
- 4. Cases in which this accusative expresses not the concrete, but the abstract idea of the verb. Here belongs the usage of the Infinitive absolute before and after a finite form (228.3).

ילטוש he will return, will sharpen (= will again sharpen). ארכרו הדברו 5 ye do much, ye speak (= ye speak much). הרבו הילך he was willing, he went (= he went willingly).

- 3. a. לא אבו הלוך they would not go.
 - b. ויוספו עוד שנא אתו and they added still to hate him.
 - c. מהרת למצא thou hast hastened to find (found quickly).

 ''הרבתה להתפלל she did much to pray (prayed much).
- 4. ירעתי אכנה I know not to flatter.

ינדיל ונדיל he desired to make great.

לפל יקטל the murderer rises to kill.

5. שורד שורד when thou shalt finish to destroy. יירע כונגן one who knows how to play.

When one verbal form is employed to define the idea expressed by another, whether indicating some attendant circumstance or characteristic, or describing what grows immediately out of the first, the following constructions are found:

- 1. Both verbs are finite, the second being joined to the first by \(\frac{1}{2}\) (either conjunctive or consecutive); here both verbs may be Imperatives, the first a Perfect and the second an Imperfect with W\(\bar{a}\)w Consecutive, or the first an Imperfect and the second a Perfect with W\(\bar{a}\)w Cons.\(\alpha\)
- 2. Both verbs are finite, there being no connective; a,c this is more common in poetry.
- 3. The first verb is a finite form, and the second an Infinitive, either (1) Inf. abs., or (2) Inf. cons. without , or (3) Inf. cons. with .
- 4. Both verbs are finite, the second being brought into direct subordination to the first by being placed in the Imperfect (subjunctive); this is rare and late.^d
- 5. The second verb may be a Participle and thus describe the circumstances "more vividly than would either the (subjunctive) Imperfect, or the Infinitive."

⁴ Ps. 7:13.

⁸ Gen. 37:5.

¹² Isa. 42:21.

- (a) In this case the second verb agrees with the first in gender, and number, and generally in tense,
 - (b) On this use of the Infinitive absolute and construct, cf. $$ 28, 29.
- (c) In the passages cited, the first verb qualifies the second; in Isa. 53:11 יראה ישכע he shall see satisfyingly, and Jer. 4:5 קראו מלאו call ye with full voice, the second qualifies the first.
- (d) Examine Num. 22:6 and Isa. 47:1, in which there is an interesting change of number and person, with which this construction is closely connected.
 - (e) In 1 Sam. 3:2 an adjective is used instead of a Participle.

 אמר it is scattered as incense (= incense is offered).
 - b. ארמטיר it has become dark; רמטיר it rains. וותמטיר and it was strait with Israel.

In reference to the subject of a sentence, it may be noted that,

- 1. Aside from the noun, adjective and pronoun which may serve as subject, prepositional phrases, adverbs and pronominal suffixes (joined to particles) also perform this service.
- 2. When the subject is indefinite (German man, French on, Eng. they) various constructions are employed, viz.: a
 - a. The verb in the third person plural.b

5 Isa. 47:1.

b. The verb in the third person singular, in giving names, when the subject may be gathered from the nature of the verb, or from the context.

¹ Ex. 16:27. 6 Gen. 11:9. 10 Jer. 9:23. 14 Mal. 1:11. 22 Sam. 1:4. 7 Amos 6:12. 11 Gen. 13:10. 15 Mic. 3:6. 3 Gen. 6:13. 8 Zech. 13:6. 12 Lev. 27:2,3. 16 Amos 4:7. 4 Ps. 126:2. 9 Deut. 22:8. 13 Job 3:13. 17 Judg. 10:9.

- c. The verb with a Participle of the same for subject.
- d. The pronoun of the second person singular, in the formula אר כאר, and in legal phraseology.
- 3. When the subject is impersonal (where in English we use it) there is employed,
- a. The verb (or participle) in the third singular, and when active, generally masculine; when passive, always masculine; but
- b. The verb in the third singular feminine in description of material phenomena, and also elsewhere.
- 4. a. צריק יהוה Yahweh is righteous.

 Yahweh is the righteous one.
 - b. אמת יי אמת the judgments of Y. are truth (= true).
 b. אניך יונים thine eyes are doves (= like doves' eyes).
 - c. בשמים כסאו his throne is in heaven.

 יהשלום אביכם "אתם המעט מכל העמים" ye are the least of all the peoples.
 - 4. Aside from a verb, the predicate may be,
- a. An adjective, which is undefined, unless it is desired for special reason to prefix the article.
- b. A noun, a construction frequently employed because of the want of adjectives.
 - c. A prepositional phrase, adverbial accusative, or adverb.
- 5. a. קציר היום harvest (is) to-day; "צריק Y. (is) righteous.
 - b. הוא הקטן the blood is the soul; הרם הוא הנפש D. was (or is) the youngest; אלה המה אלה what are these? (cf. Zech. 4:4). האלהים thou art God.
 - c. איש היה בארץ עוץ there was (lived) a man in the land of Uz.

 and the serpent had become subtle.
 - d. אין תקוח ¹⁶ there is hope; ארך it is with thee. אין יוסף straw is not given. אין יוסף behold me; באחל she is in the tent.

⁶ Gen. 43:27.

- 5. The subject and predicate may be united in various ways:
 - a. They may stand together, with no connecting word of any kind.c
- b. They may be joined by means of the pronoun of the third pers.; whether the circumstance is one of past or present time, and whether the subject is first, second or third person. At first expressing existence only in the most general way, it comes to be equivalent to our verb to be, and is especially used when both subject and predicate are definite. d. Cf. $\ref{7.6}$, 7.
- c. The verb היה may be employed; but this always expresses the idea of becoming, existing, and is therefore never identical with the substantive verb to bef
- d. Certain particles, viz., w existence, in non-existence, behold, are employed. These were originally nouns, but in usage have come to be practically equivalent to our copula.

- (a) On the use of איש to express the indefinite subject, § 14. 2. b.
- (b) A paraphrastic mode of expression to express the same force as that conveyed by the third person plural is seen in the use of the passive, with which the accusative is joined, e. g., אַר הארץ = let them give the land; cf. Gen. 17:5; 27:42; Amos 4:2, etc. (§ 35. 1).
- (c) "An external sign for connecting the two main constituents of a proposition, when the predicate is not to be a verb—in other words, a copula—is really unnecessary; because the mode in which the discourse is delivered by the living voice is of itself sufficient to indicate the separation, in meaning, between the two different halves of the sentence; and, in Hebrew, a special word for this purpose is, in actual fact, very rarely used. The Indo-Germanic languages begin pretty early to use the verb to be for this sign, when the predicate did not consist of a more complete verb, and thus the substantive verb came to be the mere copula in a sentence, whereas the Semitic languages properly do not yet know of any such usage, and have, in this respect also, remained much more simple."*
 - (d) But also in later Hebrew frequently when the subject is indefinite.
 - (e) Cf. the use of Alm in Nah. 2:9; Isa. 18:2,7.
 - (f) Cf. the use of א היה he is not. Gen. 42:11; Isa. 15:6; 23:13.

38. ORDER OF WORDS IN A SENTENCE

- 1. a. ברא אלהים את השמים God created the heaven.

 ממים את השמים God created the heaven.

 ממים אל האשה and the serpent said unto the woman.
 - גרול אתה וגרול שמך 3 great thou art and great is thy name.
 יהוה אלהיך הוא אלהים Yahweh, thy God, is God.
 - c. ירוה ענה בי⁵ seeing that Y. hath testified against me. וראשו מגיע בשמים and the top (was) reaching to heaven.
- 2. a. ברא א' את השמים God created the heaven. [name
 - b. קשכיחו את עמי שמי they have caused my people to forget my
 - c. אתן לך עשרת כסף I will give thee ten pieces of silver. פויברך אתם אלהים and God blessed them.
- 1. The usual order of words, so far as concerns the two principal members, is as follows:
 - a. Predicate, subject, when the predicate is a verb.a
- b. Predicate, subject, when the predicate is an adjective; b but subject, predicate, when the predicate is a noun.
- c. Subject, predicate, in what are called descriptive or circumstantial clauses.^d
- 2. a. The usual order of words, so far as concerns the three principal members, is predicate, subject, object (direct or indirect);^e and
- b. If there are two objects, that one comes first which is the more important; but
- c. When the object (direct or indirect) is a pronoun, it is likely immediately to follow the predicate f

⁹ Gen. 1:22.

³ Jer. 10:6.

- (a) In Hebrew, the act was more important than the agent, and was consequently placed first.
- (b) Compare the position of the adjective when attributive, viz., after the noun (§ 10. 2. α .).
- (c) This order, which is always followed when neither subject nor predicate is to be emphasized, indicates at once which is subject and which is predicate.
- (d) "By putting the subject first, and the predicate afterwards, the action, its development, and its progress do not come into the foreground, as in ordinary narrative discourse; but the person is placed first, by himself, in order to be immediately thereafter more fully described and depicted as he is; and the whole proposition, in a manner quite the opposite of the usual narrative style, presents us with a harmonious and placid picture of something continuous, permanent,—just as the speaker conceives it."*
- (e) Furthermore it may be said, additions in the form of an adjective, genitive or adverb follow the particular word which they modify. There are, of course special rules for the Infinitive absolute (§ 28.) and negatives (§ 37.).
- (f) There is a growing tendency to insert small words and expressions between the more important members, e. g., את ווא בא. 14:5; אמת Jer. 18:13; לאר Ps. 7:14; היה Job 1:1.
- 3. a. ומעיל קטן תעשה לו and a little robe his mother made for him.

הכלבים אכלו הכלבים him that dieth of J. in the city shall the dogs eat.

- b. אחי אנכי מבקש my brethren I am seeking. [thing. a free thing.] אחי אנכי מבקש had the prophet bid thee (do) a great
- c. אמתה בריתי תשמר and thou my covenant shalt keep.

 16 Y. will lay bare their secret parts.
- d. זכתב האלת האלה מחל and the priest shall write these curses.

 אשכלה נשים חרבך thy sword has made women childless.
- 3. From the usual order (see above), there are sometimes found variations, e. g.,
 - a. Object, predicate, subject, which emphasizes the object.
- b. Object, subject, predicate, which likewise emphasizes the object; this is the usual construction when the predicate is a participle, but elsewhere rare.
- c. Subject, object, predicate, which emphasizes the subject, and "in prose confers upon the phrase a poetical coloring by transferring the predicate to the end."

The language has various methods of marking emphasis, some of which have already been treated in other connections. The more important may be grouped as follows:

- 1. The word to be emphasized is placed, out of the usual order, at the head of its clause (§ 38. 3).
- 2. The word or phrase is placed independently at the beginning, without grammatical connection with what follows, and is afterwards resumed
 - a. By a pronoun or another noun.a
- b. By Waw, either conjunctive (rare) or consecutive (with Perfect or Imperfect).b
 - c. By both Waw and a pronoun.
 - 3. The idea is expressed first by a pronoun and then by a noun.c
- 4. When a pronoun is to be emphasized, it is repeated either in the form of a separate pronoun, or of a pronominal suffix.^d
 - 5. a. The word, a noun, is simply repeated, sometimes twice. c. f
- b. The word, a verb, is written twice; once (generally first) in the form of the Infinitive absolute; a usage (§ 28.3) found in the expression of (1) antithetic, (2) restrictive, (3) emphatic interrogative, and (4) emphatic declarative sentences.
- 6. The word to be emphasized is followed by the pronoun kind (not that, or the same), in the sense of $air \delta c$, ipse.
- 7. The use of the "ethical" dative marks the action as of special importance to the agent.

REMARKS.

- (a) See § 7. 1-4.
- (b) See § 25. 2. d.
- (c) This is rare and confined mostly to later writers.
- (d) See $ 11. 1. a.; in later writers, however, this construction does not seem to be especially emphatic.
- (e) Note the repetition of series of words in Ex. 28:34; Num. 17:21; Hos. 8:11; Ezek. 1:20,21; Isa, 53:7; Zech. 12:12-14.
 - (f) See also § 6. 3. a.
- (g) "This mode of expression indicates a special partition in the action by the agent or speaker, a certain earnestness or zeal with which he acts; it occurs as an expression of heartiness more in the diffuse and easy-going popular style, both in poetry and unimpassioned prose."*

- 3. עיני תראינה my eyes shall see.

The general principles of agreement may be reduced to three:

- 1. When the subject precedes, the predicate agrees with it in gender and number.^a
 - 2. When the predicate precedes, two constructions are possible:
- a. The predicate may agree with the subject in gender and number; or,
- b. The predicate may assume the primary form, viz., third masculine singular, whatever be the number or gender of the following subject.^b
- 3. When the subject is dual, the predicate generally stands in the plural (though sometimes in the feminine singular.)

The exceptions to the general principles given above, arising from an adherence to the sense rather than the form, may be classified as follows:

- 4. a. The predicate may be feminine singular when the subject, designating lifeless objects, animals, members of the body, abstract ideas (see under $\ 2 2$. b, c.) is plural.^d
- b. The predicate may be plural, when the subject is a collective noun, though singular.
- 5. When the subject is a nominative in the construct relation with a genitive,
- a. The predicate always agrees with the genitive, if the nominative is all.
- b. The predicate often agrees with the genitive, if the nominative is voice.
- 'c. The predicate in poetry may agree with the genitive whenever it is desired to lay upon it special emphasis. f,g
- 6. When the subject consists of two or more nouns joined by 1, whether preceding or following the predicate, the latter may agree with one and be understood with the other, or may be in the plural and thus agree with them taken together.
- 7. There is frequently found change from one number to the other; here belong
- a. Cases in which an individual subject is generalized or the opposite.
- b. Cases in which both individualizing and, later, generalizing take place.
- c. Cases in which, after speaking of a multitude, the writer suddenly limits himself to one of that number.
- d. Cases in which several changes take place in the same verse, which may only be explained by supposing a desire for variety, or by special considerations characteristic of that verse.

REMARKS.

- (a) Cf., however, (1) Isa. 21:2; Gen. 35:26; Hos. 10:6; where what seems to be a subject, with which the predicate though following does not agree, is really an accusative with a passive verb; and (2) Gen. 4:7; Eccl. 2:7 (cf. 1 Kgs. 2:21), etc., in which the predicate, disagreeing with its subject, is a participle used as a substantive.
- (b) The adjective will then be singular masculine; though the number of instances in which the adjective follows this usage is not proportionately so great as in the case of the verb.
 - (c) Cf. עיניו קמה (1 Sam. 4:15).
- (d) Here the feminine is treated as neuter; cf. the Greek construction, according to which a neuter plural subject takes a singular predicate.

- (e) On the use of the plural of אדון (Ex. 21:29), etc., see § 3. 2. c.
- (f) This is the principle everywhere operating when the nominative is a numeral (3 to 10, 100, 1000) in the construct.
 - (g) Cf. also the use of מבחר in Ex. 15:4.

- 3. With the participle is used almost exclusively; this is in accordance with the original use of it as a negative of substantives (see 5. below), and with the nominal nature of itself, which is never lost. This combination furnishes the prevailing form for expressing a negative present, though not of course restricted to this use f
 - 4. With the infinitive there are found,
 - a. להוי with the preposition ל, the usual negative of the Inf.
 - b. אין ל and אין ל, but only in late writers.
 - c. Not without, with the force of a preposition.
- d. 13 from, so as not, lest, after verbs which imply restraint, hindrance, etc.
 - 5. With nouns there are found,
- a. No, which gives an opposite meaning, like un-, in-, im-; this usage occurs in the case of substantives as well as of adjectives.
 - b. אין (cf. 3. above), equivalent to without, or un-, in-, im-.
 - c. בלא = בלחי, without, except.
 - d. לבלי without, un-, in-.

8. In the case of two successive negative sentences, especially when, as in poetry, they are parallel, the negative may be omitted from the second, the influence of the first being deemed sufficient.

REMARKS.

- (a) A few cases exist of x with the Jussive, e. g., Gen. 24:8; 1 Sam. 14:36.
- (b) On the other hand is thought by some to stand occasionally in a declarative sentence, e. g., Ps. 41:3; 50:3; Jer. 14:17, though with a stronger force than would have been conveyed by \aleph^{1} .
 - (c) For the use of 87 and 78, without a verb, 1 Kgs. 2:30; 11:22; Gen. 19:18; Ruth 1:13.
- (d) 8'7 cannot stand before a Participle (when used as a verb), an Infinitive absolute, or an Infinitive construct. Note cases in which, through the influence of 87, a Participle passes into a finite verb, Ex. 9:20,21; 13:21,22; 1 Sam. 1:13; 2 Sam. 3:34; Hos. 1:6; Ps. 37:21.
 - (e) The i of בלתי and בלי is the old archaic genitive ending.
- (f) For cases in which this combination is used of the past, see Gen. 39:23; Jer. 32:33; of the future, Jer 37:14.
- (g) Cf. זולתי, which is used particularly before a single word; בלתי, before a proposition.
- (h) It is only when $\Box \supset = omnis$ that this combination may be found; when $\Box \supset = totus$, the \aleph negatives the idea of wholeness.

- b. אחיה אם אחיה enquire....if I shall recover.

 ולראה אם פרחה הגפן tet us see whether the vine has budded.
- 1. A sentence is sometimes found to be interrogative, though lacking an interrogative particle. In such cases the arrangement of the words, or the tone of voice in the pronunciation of the sentence, was sufficient to indicate the interrogative force.^a
 - 2. The interrogative particle \bigcap (Lat. an, Greek $\mathring{\eta}$) is employed
 - a. In questions, the answer to which is entirely doubtful.
 - b. In questions which are equivalent to a strong affirmative assertion.
 - c. In questions equivalent to denial, or which call for a negative reply.
 - d. In indirect questions, equivalent to whether.
- 3. The interrogative particle (Lat. nonne) is employed when it is certain that an affirmative answer is expected.
 - 4. The interrogative particle DN (strictly if) is employed,
- a. To introduce the second member of a double interrogative sentence; here the compound form (cf. sive) is more common.
- b. To introduce an indirect question depending upon some preceding thought (cf. the use of above).

 - e. מרתן בא היום why have ye come so soon to-day?

 שניכם רעים היום why are your countenances sad to-day?
- 5. In reference to interrogative pronouns the following points in addition to what has been said may be noted:
 - a. 10 who?
 - (1) always refers to persons, whatever may be the particular phraseology of the sentence;
 - (2) is frequently followed by , and the sentence thus rendered more vivid and pointed;
 - (3) is employed in conveying an optative idea.
 - b. 72 what?
 - (1) always refers to the nature or character of an object, and the object may, of course, be a person.
 - (2) introduces an expression of reproach or blame, and may be rendered wherefore?

1 Gen. 33:8.	6 Ex. 17:2.	11 Gen. 30:30.	16 Ex. 2:13.

- (3) introduces an objection, or an interrogation implying impossibility, and may be rendered by how?
- (4) has come in a few cases to be equivalent to a negative, and may be rendered not.
- (5) with לֶבֶׁם or לֶבֶּׁם, is used in expressions of strong reproof.
 c. מָה which? differs from מָה and מָה in being an adjective, though always preceding the noun which it modifies.
- 6. Aside from interrogative particles and interrogative pronouns, there are many interrogative adverbs. Among others may be noted:
 - a. עד when? sometimes compounded with א and עד
 - b. מבוה how much? how long?
- c. איכה how? used to inquire as to the manner in which a given event is to take place; and also to introduce an expression equivalent to a negative, and to express wonder, lamentation.
- d. לְמַה wherefore, why? used to ask for the purpose or aim of an action.
- e. בה־נְרוֹעֵ (for מֵה־נְרוֹעֵ, cf. τί μαθών), why? used to ask for the ground or cause of an action.

- (a) This is seen especially in questions arising from great emotion or anxiety, e.g., 1 Sam. 16:4; 2 Sam. 18:29; 2 Sam. 19:23; and also in questions which are connected by 1, and are in antithesis with a preceding declarative statement, e. g., Judg. 11:23; Jon. 4:10,11; Job 10:8,9.
- (b) In some cases 7 is dropped for euphonic reasons from before words beginning with N or 7, e.g., Gen. 18:12; 1 Sam. 22:15; 2 Sam. 19:23; 1 Kgs. 1:24,
 - (c) For eases of הֶכְי is it . . . that? see Gen. 27:36; 29:15; 2 Sam. 9:1; 23:19.
 - (d) Here 7 also may be used, e.g., Judg. 14:15.
- (e) DN is still further used after a preceding declarative statement in the sense of or.

- (b) Originally in exclamations the third person only was used; in the later writers the second begins to be employed.
 - (c) Here also belong words or expressions used in swearing, however introduced.
- (d) It should not be forgotten that the Infinitive absolute is used in exclamatory style "(1) when the speaker is too full of his subject to mention the action in any other than an ejaculatory manner, and as briefly as possible, e.g., 2 Kgs. 4:43; Job 40:2: (2) in a kind of vehement and rapid description of a number of actions that excite astonishment or displeasure, e. g., Hos. 4:2; Isa. 21:5."* (Cf. $ 28. 5.)
- (e) מי יתן is followed (1) by a verb with or without Waw Consecutive, (2) by an Infinitive, (3) by a noun.

- b. Cases in which the , with an Imperfect or Imperative, expresses purpose or result (§ 26. 2a).
- c. Cases in which the joins an apodosis to a preceding protasis, not only in conditional but also in causal and relative sentences.
- 3. Still another usage of 1 is that occurring in circumstantial clauses (§ 45.), when it is translated while, although, after, etc.
 - 4. Omission of \(\) (asyndeton), where it might be expected, is found
 - a. In lists, enumerations, etc.
 - b. In expressions added by way of explanation or correction.
 - c. In a climax, or in highly rhetorical statements.
- d. In hurried, abrupt discourse, or where the rapidity of the action is to be emphasized.

- (a) For examples in which \(\) has the force of with, see Gen. 3:24; Judg. 6:5; 1 Sam. 18:6; 25:42; 29:10; Isa. 13:9.
 - (b) For cases of hendiadys, see Gen. 1:14; 3:16; 2 Chron. 16:14; Job 10:17.
- (c) The conjunctions employed when the connection is to be emphasized are $\eta \aleph$, D1, e. g., 1 Sam. 25:43; 22:7; Exod. 10:25; Isa. 40:24; 41:26.
- (d) The most common adversative conjunctions are (1) של בי but (after a negative), e. g., Gen. 24:3; 45:8; 1 Kgs. 21:15; Exod. 1:19; Josh. 17:18; Ps. 44:8; (2) של בי אם but if, but, e. g., Ps. 1:2; Gen. 15:4; Josh. 17:3; 1 Sam. 8:19. Cf. also אַן בּ how much more, how much less, e. g., 1 Sam. 14:29f.; 1 Kgs. 8:27.
- (e) Here also belongs the use of \(\) in exclamations, e. g., Joel 2:23; 2 Sam. 1:21; Jer. 20:12; and in oaths, e. g., Joel 4:20; Amos 9:5; Hos. 12:6; Jer. 29:23; Isa. 51:15; Deut. 32:31; Ps. 71:19 (so Ewald).
 - (f) For the use of Waw Consecutive with Imperfect and Perfect, see §$ 24, 25.
- (g) In many stereotyped phrases also i is dropped, e. g., מדר דר (Exod. 17:16) for כורר ורר

We frequently find a clause which furnishes material subordinate to that of the principal clause of a sentence; or which describes the condition or circumstances attending the action of the principal verb. Such clauses are termed circumstantial or descriptive and may be considered under the following heads:

- 1. Circumstantial clauses following the principal clause and joined by means of) (§ 44. 3),
- a. With the verb in the Perfect, especially in sentences which have a pluperfect or perfect meaning, often rendered by the past participle.
- b. With the verb a Participle, almost always in clauses which are of a strictly descriptive character.
- c. With the verb in the Imperfect; less common than either the Perfect or Participle, and for the most part in negative sentences.^a
 - d. With no verbal form of any kind.

A relative clause may best be understood as the expansion of an adjective or participle. It is generally introduced by (§ 13.), sometimes by (§ 13. 4. a)a,b; yet in many cases no introductory particle is employed (see below). The principal usages of relative clauses may be classified as follows:

- 1. Relative sentences introduced by in which, since is only a particle and not a pronoun, a special pronoun, pronominal suffix, or adverb, is employed to express the desired idea. The pronoun or pronominal suffix agrees with its antecedent in gender and number, and takes that particular case which the relative particle would have, if a noun. It may, therefore, be,
 - a. The subject of the sentence.
 - b. The direct object of the verb, i. e., an accusative.
 - c. The genitive after a construct, or after a preposition.
 - d. An adverb, viz., De, used in the sense of where, whither, whence.
- 2. Relative sentences introduced by "" in which, for the sake of brevity, the special pronoun, pronominal suffix, or adverb referred to above, has been omitted. This is seen in sentences in which
- a. The relative particle has the force of subject, and especially, where the predicate is a finite verb including the pronominal idea.
 - b. The relative particle has the force of an accusative.
- c. The relative particle as an adverbial accusative follows a substantive having some general signification of time, place, manner.
- 3. Relative sentences in which the relative particle includes its antecedent and is equivalent to he who, those who, etc. The particle, therefore, has here two constructions. Aside from its connection with the relative clause which it introduces, it has a relation to the principal sentence on which this relative clause depends; thus it may be
 - a. The subject of this principal sentence.
 - b. The object often with a prefixed TX.
 - c. The genitive after a preposition.gh
- 4. a. גוי איתן הוא a nation that is lasting.
 in a land which is not theirs.
 - b. דרך לא ידעו a way they know not.

³ Jer. 5:15.

⁴ Gen. 15:13.

⁵ Isa. 42:16,

יורנו בדרך יבחר he teaches him in a way he should choose.

c. איש היה בארץ עוץ איוב שמו a man lived in the land of Uz, whose name was Job.

d. עשה the gain that he made.

Ture.

the excellent ones in whom is my whole pleas-

- e. אירם אירם the day I fear; עת נשברת the time thou wast broken.
- 5. a. מקום לא ידע אל the place (of him) who knows not God.

send now by the hand (of him whom) thou wilt send. Task.

I was inquired of by (those who) did not יבלערי אחזה אתה הרני what is beyond that which I see, teack thou me.

- 4. Relative sentences without an introductory particle, especially when the antecedent is indefinite; this is found
- a. When the relative, or the word to which the relative force is given, is a subject.
 - b. When the relative is the object of a verb.
 - c. When the relative is a genitive.
- d. When the relative clause follows a noun in the construct; this is rare and poetical.
- e. When the relative follows a noun, in the construct, which has some general signification of time, place, manner.
- 5. Relative sentences in which the relative particle, though including its antecedent and equivalent to he who (see 3 above), is omitted; this is, for the most part, poetical, though found rarely in late prose writers. The predicate generally stands first in the relative clause, and is thus brought into antithesis with the preceding sentence.

REMARKS.

- (a) The pronouns א שלה, א what sometimes also have a relative force, e. g., Gen. 19:12; 1 Sam. 20:4; Isa. 50:8.
- (b) On the use of the article in a relative sense with a Participle and, rarely, with a finite verb, see § 4. 3. f.
- (c) For agreement also in person, where the antecedent is a pronoun, see Gen. 45:4; Num. 22:30; Isa. 41:8.

1 Ps. 25:12.

4 Jer. 48:36.

7 Ezek. 27:34. 8 Job 18:21.

10 Isa. 65:1. 11 Job 34:32.

2 Job 1:1.

5 Ps. 16:3. 6 Ps. 56:4.

9 Ex. 4:13.

3 Ex. 18:20.

- (d) This pronominal suffix is regularly separated from the relative by one or more words.
 - (e) Note the double construction seen, for example, in Gen. 38:10; 43:16; 49:1.
- (f) Distinguish from this the use of אמר אשר, in the sense of the fact that, how, etc., to subordinate as object an entire clause.
 - (g) Cf. the combinations על אשר, כאשר, באשר, באשר, etc.
- (h) Cf. the usage (late and rare) which allows שמא to be followed by a noun in the accusative, Jer. 14:1; 46:1; Ezek. 12:25; Amos 5:1.

- 1. Dependent sentences are found,
 - a. With the force of a subject, introduced by כי or יב.
 - b. With the force of an object, introduced by .
- c. With the logical subject, attracted by the verb of the principal sentence and treated as its object.
- d. With no introductory particle, the verb being directly attached to what precedes.
- 2. A more condensed method of expressing subject and object sentences is seen
- a. In the use of an accusative with an Infinitive (cf. the Latin), after verbs of wishing, allowing, commanding, etc.
- b. In the same usage, more particularly in later writers, after verbs of hearing, seeing, knowing, etc.
- c. In the use of and rarely with the Infinitive after verbs of fearing.
- 3. a. אנכי שאל מאתך לאמר לא תראה את פני I ask of thee, saying, "Thou shalt not see my face."

- 3. Under object sentences belongs also what is called direct and indirect discourse. In reference to this it may be noted that
- a. Direct discourse is introduced by בָּל, לְאָמָה, or בְּלְּאָלָה, which are then equivalent to quotation marks; this is the earlier form and is much more common than the indirect, which, in most cases, would have been employed in English.
- b. The gradual introduction of indirect discourse is seen in cases (like those cited above), in which it is only partly indirect.
- c. That while in the older literature direct discourse prevails, in later writings it becomes customary to employ the Imperfect, with or without ; and that in extended discourse of this kind the voluntative Imperfect is largely used.*
- d. That more frequently, however, there is found especially in later writers the construction of the Infinitive with '\forall (cf. the Latin).
- 4. a. אשר לא תוכל להרפא so that thou canst not be healed.

 אשר לא תוכל להרפא so that thou rememberest him.
 - b. (1) אשר ידעון in order that they know. [it holy.
 - (2) וכור את יום הש' לקרשו remember the Sabbath day to keep
 - (3) למען יאמינו in order that they may believe.
 - (4) בעבור ההיה לי לערה that they may be to me for a testimony.
 - (5) איש יגורנו לעם יגורנו o when it comes up against the people to invade them.
 - c. (1) ישמעו לא ישמעו in order that they may not understand.
 - (2) למשלו בי that they may not rule over me.

- a. Clauses indicating result or consequence, with Imperfect introduced by the particles Tix or 13.
 - b. Clauses indicating purpose or intention,
 - (1) with an Imperfect following אשׁר ;
 - (2) with an Infinitive following 5;
 - (3) with an Imperfect following למען;
 - (4) with an Imperfect following ;

As regards the usage of tense in conditional sentences the principles given in §§ 16.-24. hold good. It is only necessary, therefore, to classify the more important forms.

- 3. In the first form, the protasis presents distinctly a future case (as, if I(shall) find him), and the apodosis denotes what will be the result (as, I will inform him). The Imperfect is employed in both i,j,k But in the apodosis there is found also
- a. The Perfect with Waw Consecutive instead of the Imperfect (§ 25. 1. b).
- b. The Perfect of certainty which is equivalent to an Imperfect (§ 19. 1).
- 4. In the second form, the protasis presents a future case, but less distinctly (as, if I should find him); the apodosis denotes what would (or might) be the result. The Imperfect is employed in both $l_n m, n$
- 5. In the third form, the protasis presents a future case, but one of an entirely uncertain and indefinite character, and regarded from the stand-point of the past (as, if I shall have at any time found him); the apodosis denotes what will be the result in case this contingency is realized. Here the Perfect is found in the protasis and the Imperfect in the apodosis; but in the apodosis there is also found
- a. The Perfect with Waw Consecutive instead of the Imperfect (§ 25. 1. b.).
 - b. The Perfect in the sense of the Future Perfect (§ 19. 3).
- 6. In the fourth form the protasis presents a case either strictly past, or past as viewed from a definite moment fixed in the context (as, if I have in the past, or shall have at a particular time, found him) the apodosis denotes what will be the result immediately or at the particular moment referred to. The Perfect^p (either present perfect, § 17.2, or perfect of the immediate past, § 18.1, or future perfect, § 19.3) is used in the protasis, the Imperfect in the apodosis; but in the apodosis there is also found
- a. The Perfect with Waw Consecutive instead of the Imperfect (§ 25. 1. b.).
- 7. In the fifth form, the protasis presents a case which is supposed not to have been fulfilled (as, if I had found him); the apodosis denotes what would have been the result if the supposed case had been realized (as, I should have informed him). The Perfect is used in both members.^{2,r,s,t} But in the apodosis there is found
- a. The Imperfect instead of the Perfect, when reference is made to the present (as, I should now inform him).

- 8. a. ועזב את אביו ומת and (if) he leave his father, he will die.

 מון and (if) all the people saw, they stood up.
 - b. והכיאה לי ואכלה (if thou) bring it to me [and] I will eat.

נקבה שכרך עלי ואתנה (if thou wilt) specify to me thy hire [and] I will give it.

מיט אייט אייט and (if) I looked, there was no man.

- c. הולך מאתי והכך האריה behold, thou goest from me and a lion shall slay thee. [avenged, etc.
- כל הרג קין שבעתים יקם should any one kill Cain, he shall be
- 9. a. אים אקח מכל אישר לך (may he punish me) if I take of all that is thine = I will not take.

אטר אנשר הברתם...כן אעשה (God do so to me, and more also), if I do not do according to what ye have spoken = I will surely do it.

- b. ועתה אם תשא חטאתם ואם אין מחני¹¹ and now if thou wilt forgive their sin [it is well], but if not, blot me out.
- c. לא אשלחך כי אם ברכתני I will not let thee go....yes, if thou bless me, (then I will let thee go).
- d. לו הואלנו ונשב בעבר היררן oh that we had been content and had remained beyond the Jordan.
- 8. Certain classes of sentences, conditional in force, though not in form, may be grouped as follows:
- a. Sentences containing two members, each of which has as its verb a Perfect with Wāw Consecutive (as, and I used to find him, and inform him, or and I find him, and I inform him = and if I found him I should inform him, or and if I find him, I inform him). This Perfect is a frequentative (§ 25.1. a). The usage occurs in the sphere of past, present or future time.
- b. Sentences containing two members, both of which have Imperatives; or one, an Imperative, the other a Jussive or Cohortative; or both, Jussives (as, find him and inform him = if you find him, you shall

- c. Sentences with a participle (often preceded by הְנָהָה) in the protasis, an Imperfect, or Perfect with Wāw Consecutive in the apodosis.
- 9. In certain usages, one or the other member of the conditional is regularly omitted. This is seen in
- a. In the expression of the oath, the apodosis, viz., I lift my hand to God that he may punish me, or God do so to me and more also, having been dropped. Here $\Box \aleph = assuredly$ not; $\aleph \Box \aleph = assuredly$.
- b. In the case of the first apodosis of two consecutive conditional sentences, this apodosis being easily supplied from the context.
- c. In the case of the elliptical conjunction $\Box v$ $\Rightarrow yes$, if, the real apodosis having strictly to be supplied.
 - d. In the expression of a wish which is not, or cannot be, realized.

REMARKS.

- (a) For DN in the sense of although, 1 Sam. 15:17; Jer. 5:2; 14:7.
- (b) See Ex. 4:1; 8:22 and compare הנה, $ 48. 8. c.
- (c) See Judg. 9:15; 11:9; 1 Sam. 6:3.
- (d) Cf. אם אמרי (Job 9:27) if my saying = if I say.
- (e) Cf. sentences introduced by 'D when, § 47. 5. a.
- (f) Cf. the distinction between מֹל and כֹ in Ex. 21:2-5, where כֹ is used before a general ordinance, מֹל, before the particular details.
- (g) To be distinguished from this are other usages of כי אם, viz., (1) that if, because if, for if, e. g., 1 Kgs. 20:6; Deut. 11:22, and (2) but, the אמ having lost its force, Ps. 1:1; Josh. 17:3.
- (h) Here belong cases in which the protasis has been omitted, e. g., Ex. 9:15; 1 Sam. 13:13; 2 Kgs. 13:19.
- (i) The voluntative Imperfect or Imperative may be substituted for the ordinary Imperfect, e. g., 1 Sam. 20:21; 21:10; 2 Kgs. 2:10.
- (j) The Participle (according to § 20. 2. (h)) may also be substituted for the Imperfect, e. g., Gen. 4:7; Lev. 21:9.
- (k) For cases in which the Imperfect in apodosis refers to the past in the frequentative sense, see Gen. 31:8; Ex. 40:37.
- (l) While the Greek uses in the first form the subjunctive, in the second the optative, and thus distinguishes them, the distinction in Hebrew can be seen only from the context.
- (m) When both members are parallel in thought, the particle is translated if; when contrasted, it may be rendered by though.
 - (n) Here, too, the Participle may be substituted for the Imperfect.
- (o) Notice that this Perfect is continued by a Perfect with Waw Consecutive, not by an Imperfect with Waw Consecutive, e. g., Gen. 43:9; Job 11:13,14.
- (p) Notice that this Perfect is continued by an Imperfect with Waw Consecutive, e. g., Judg. 9:16-19.
- (q) By the omission of the apodosis there arises a common expression for a wish that has not been realized, e. g., Josh.7:7; Isa. 48:18,19; 63:19.

- (r) By the omission of the protasis and the use of מני עתה arise such cases as 1 Sam. 13:13; Ex. 9:15, etc.
 - (8) Here the Greek likewise employs past tenses in both protasis and apodosis.
- (t) Examine 2 Sam. 18:12; Ps. 81:14-17 and note the use of the Participle in the protasis and the Imperfect in the apodosis (as, if I found him now, I would tell him).
- (u) Cf. $ 23. 2. d., under which many of the cases here cited may also be classified, e. g., do this and live may be do this that you may live, or if you do this, you will live.
- (v) Here belong also Dκ ... Dκ, if... if, whether... or, cf. ξάν τε... ξάν τε, sive... sive.

AN INTRODUCTORY

NEW TESTAMENT GREEK METHOD,

TOGETHER WITH

A Manual, containing Text and Vocabulary of Gospel of John and Lists of Words,

The Elements of New Testament Greek Grammar.

BY WILLIAM R. HARPER, Ph.D., Professor in Yale University,

REVERE F. WEIDNER, D.D., Professor in Augustana Theological Seminary, Rock Island, Ill.

Octavo, price, - - $2.50 net.

 Correspondence concerning terms for introduction and examination copies is solicited from instructors desiring a Text-book in New Testament Greek.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS, Publishers, 743-745 Broadway, New York.

Many who have not studied Classical Greek desire to know New Testament Greek. For these as well as for those who, having studied Classical Greek, desire to review more particularly the principles of New Testament Greek, this book is intended. By its use the student, while acquiring and mastering the principles of the Greek Language by a rapid and natural method, will be pursuing a complete and thorough study of New Testament literature; and thus not only to clergymen of all denominations—to whom it will serve as an important basis for their work—but to Bible students generally the book will be found invaluable.

For several years the inductive method of teaching languages, as exemplified in Professor Harper's Text-Books, has been employed by many of the leading Professors of Hebrew in this country. A book to embody the application of the method in New Testament Greek has long been called for, and it is believed that the present volume will meet the demand.

HEBREW AND SEMETIC TEXT-BOOKS.

ELEMENTS OF HEBREW. By WILLIAM R. HARPER, Ph.D. Twelfth edition. Revised and Indexed. 8vo, $2.00 net.

An Elementary Grammar of the Hebrew Language, by an Inductive Method. Comprising systematic statements of the principles of Hebrew Orthography and Etymology, according to the latest and most scientific authorities, deduced from examples quoted in the work; with a practically exhaustive discussion and classification of the Hebrew Vowel-sounds.

INTRODUCTORY HEBREW METHOD AND MANUAL. By WILLIAM R. HARPER, Ph.D. Seventh edition. 12mo, $2.00 net.

A Text-Book for Beginners in Hebrew, by an Inductive Method. Containing the Text of Genesis I.-VIII; with notes, referring to the author's "Elements of Hebrew," Exercises for Translation, Grammar Lessons covering the Principles of Orthography and Etymology, and Lists of the most frequently occurring Hebrew words.

ELEMENTS OF HEBREW SYNTAX. By WILLIAM R. HARPER, Ph.D. 8vo, $2.00 net.

A presentation of the principles of Hebrew Syntax, by an inductive method. The method of presentation includes (1) a citation and translation of examples teaching a given principle; (2) a statement of the principle; (3) the addition of details and exceptions in smaller type; (4) a list of references (in the order of the Hebrew Bible) for further study.

HEBREW VOCABULARIES. By WILLIAM R. HARPER, Ph.D. 12mo, $1.00 net.

AN ARAMAIC METHOD. By CHARLES RUFUS BROWN.

PART I. Text, Notes and Vocabulary. 12mo, $1.75 net. PART II. Grammar. 12mo, $1.00 net.

Including brief statements of the principles of Aramaic Orthography, Etymology and Syntax. The method pursued is comparative and inductive. For the convenience of those using Harper's Elements of Hebrew, the arrangement has been adopted as far as possible from that work.

AN ASSYRIAN MANUAL. By DAVID G. LYON, Ph.D. 8vo, $4.00 net.

The Manual contains a list of syllabic signs in most common use, a selection of some of the most important historical texts transliterated in English letters, some pages of Cunciform Texts, Paradigms, Comments, and Glossary.

AN ARABIC MANUAL. By JOHN G. LANSING, D.D. 8vo, $2.00 net.

Containing the Letters; Vowels; Signs; Accent; Pause; Syllables; The Articles Pronouns; different classes of Prepositions, Conjunctions, and Adverbs, with a table of the most common of these; Numerals; the Verb, with its Measures, Permutations, Assimilations, Forms, Voices, States, Moods, Persons, etc., Trillteral and Quadrillteral, Strong and Weak, Inflections by Persons, Voices and Moods, Derived Forms, The Weak Verbs and Other Verbs, with explanations, and paradigms; The Noun, Kinda, Derivation, Classification, Verbal Adjectives, Cases, Declensions, etc., with examples under all sections.

- "I have used Professor Harper's 'Elements' and 'Method' with the Junior Classes of this Seminary during the past year. The practical test has only confirmed the favorable opinion with which the books were introduced. I have no doubt that, for their purpose, they are the best works now before the public."—Prof. W. G. BALLANTINE, Oberlin Theological Seminary, Oberlin, O.
- "I take pleasure in commending the Hebrew text-books of Professor W. R. Harper. They are in my judgment practical, convenient and adequate to introduce one to a good working acquaintance with the Hebrew language. We are using them in this Seminary in the Junior Class, and propose to continue to do so."—Prof. Basil Manly, Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville Ky.
- "* * I have found them both to stand the test of the class-room. The 'Elements' treats all principles thoroughly and exhaustively. The 'Method' is unique and in all respects sui generis. It seems to me to leave nothing undone in helping a student to a knowledge of the Hebrew. It is a vast improvement on the old methods. The typography of both books cannot be excelled."—Prof Chas. H. Corey, Richmond Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va.
- "I have used Dr. Harper's Hebrew 'Elements' and 'Method' for one year. The results in the class-room have been not only exceedingly gratifying, but more satisfactory both as to amount and thoroughness than in preceding years. I not only expect to continue the use of the 'Elements' and 'Method,' but hope for them that which they richly deserve—a constantly increasing demand and usefulness."—Prof J. G. Lansing, Theological Seminary, New Brunswick, N.J.
- "* * They are clearly written, so that no one can misunderstand what the author means to say. They are beautifully printed, so as to be in themselves attractive as mere works of art. The 'Method' is full, easy and progressive; and, above all, is liked and enjoyed by the students; while the matter of the 'Elements' is well chosen both as to quantity and quality, and is paragraphed and arranged in such matchless order as to make it most ready of acquisition and convenient for reference."—Prof. R. D. WILSON, Western Theological Seminary, Allegheny, Pa.
- "* * Actual trial of these exponents of the inductive method has convinced me that they are the best text-books of elementary Hebrew that have yet appeared. The author has not only adopted the surest method of mastering the phenomena of the language, but he has also done for beginners what Bickell and others had done for more advanced students: he has led them back of the mere surface facts to the controlling principles, and encouraged that kind of analytical study which makes Hebrew a permanent acquisition. These two books are simply indispensable in my class room."—Prof. W. W. Moore, Union Theological Seminary, Hampden Sidney, Va.
- "It affords me pleasure to say, after a year's trial of Dr. Harper's Hebrew text-books in the class-room, that they have given entire satisfaction. Of the fifteen years during which I have taught Hebrew, this has been in all respects the most pleasant and satisfactory, and I cannot but attribute the fact to the use of Harper's method of teaching the language. As a consequence of its introduction, the students have exhibited unwonted enthusiasm, and found great delight in the pursuit of what is commonly regarded as a very dreary study."—Prof. F. A. Gast, Theol. Sem'y of the Reformed Church, Lancaster, Pa.
- "I have used Professor Harper's books with my classes for the past three years, and am convinced that, for thoroughness and perspicuity of statement, for simplicity of analysis, and for economy of time, both in and out of the class-room, they afford just the aid which a teacher desires from the use of text-books. By systematic arrangement and appropriate reiteration they facilitate an accurate and rapid acquaintance with the Hebrew language, while, in the hands of an independent teacher, they may be so used as constantly to stimulate the pupil's curiosity and power of discovery, and thus greatly to promote his interest, in the introductory stages of his study."—Prof. Chas. Rufus Brown, Newton Theol. Institution, Newton Centre, Mass.

The testimony of teachers and pupils who have made practical use of these text-books is uniformly and enthusiastically in praise of both the books themselves and of the system embodied in them. If In the acquisition of the Hebrew language, more rapid and satisfactory progress can be made by means of these books than by the use of any others in existence. The publishers invite attention to the following testimony:

FROM PROFESSORS OF HEBREW.

"I like them very much. No better books, introductory to Hebrew, exist."—Prof. T. K. Cheyne, Oxford University, Oxford, England.

"Success is the best argument. What the Hebrew Summer Schools under Dr. Harper have succeeded in doing, in giving the average minister and student a real grasp of Hebrew, that exactly the 'Method' and 'Elements' effect in the class-room. They are invaluable. It is Davidson and Bickell and Gesenius combined. The debt instructors owe the Principal of the Institute of Hebrew has not yet been fully recognized."—Prof. W. W. Lovejov, Ref'd Episcopal Divinity School, Philadelphia, Pa.

"* * Remarkably full and precise, and appears well designed to train the learner in a sound philological method, and to lead him on gradually until he requires a firm grasp of the principles of the language."—Prof. S. R. DRIVER, in Contemporary Review.
